BY ARTHUR BRISBANE

THEY DO things differently in other countries.

Here, lacking prosperity for the moment, we are content to ask each other, "When do you think it will end?"

In Buenos Aires they have lack of prosperity, and the Argentine president has his dwelling guarded by troops and bristling with machine guns. Imagine President Hoover hearing that a lot of men are out of work and immediately ordering the White House fortified with bombs, cannon, etc.

A WELL-KNOWN story tells of Frederick the Great's father pursuing little boys that ran in terror from his angry face, catching them and beating them with his cane, saying:

"I will make you love me."

The Russian government intends to make the people love the Russian money, no matter what they think of it.

Yesterday Russia's chief of police announced the execution of 10 men convicted of hoarding gold and silver coins and foreign currency.

The present Russian theory is: "If the money of the soviet is not good enough for you, this world is not the place for you."

COLONEL SEARS, of the National Prison Emergency Committee, studying crime and prisons, announces that bootleggers are not drinkers of their own goods.

Omar, who also lived under prohibition and didn't think much of it, wondered what the wine sellers could buy with their money as good as the wine for which they got the money.

He lived before the days of bootleg whisky.

Many read of unemployment as a thing theoretically interesting but not important.

That was not the view of Constantine Barowski.

He had a job, his family needed it. He worked hard to keep it. A mosquito bit him, gangrene set in, doctors told him he must have the leg cut off. That would mean the loss of his job.

Helped by the good leg and the bad leg, he climbed to the roof, jumped off and died.

It is hoped and presumed that he has found a better job somewhere else.

Peace and quiet mean a long life. The French to "Peace and quiet" add "Good wine." The oldest woman in France, Madame Laneau lives at Dijon, capital of Burgundy, the province of marvelously fine wines, if it is permitted to apply "fine" to anything connected with the demon rum. Madame Laneau has lived soberly, as the French do, eating carefully, never drinking water without putting wine in it, never in her life traveling by train or automobile. She feels very well

France has on hand a war that all will approve. Armed cutters of the French navy are fighting giant fish, belugas, or dolphins, that eat millions of good fish and destroy gear of fishermen along the coast of Brittany.

Woman Fatally Hurt in Auto Accident

DIES IN LOCAL HOSPITAL; CAR TURNS OVER

Daughter, 15, Sustains Fractured Arm and Cuts; Husband Escapes.

OCCURS NEAR MT. GILEAD

Crash Ends Vacation Plans of Family from Cleveland; Mother Driving.

Vacation plans of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence L. Spenneberg and daughter Mary of Cleveland were brought to a tragic ending this morning east of Mt. Gilead, when Mrs. Spenneberg was fatally injured in an automobile accident.

Mrs. Spenneberg, 47, was driving the automobile in which she met her death. Slippery pavement and a curving road contributed to the accident when she lost control of the car while going around a curve at Williamsport, seven miles east of Mt. Gilead.

The family is believed to have been enroute to Kentucky to vacation for a time with relatives. Mr. and Mrs. Spenneberg were in the front seat and the daughter was riding in the rear seat.

Mrs. Spenneberg is said to have started around another car, lost control, skidded into a ditch and turned over twice.

Her chest was punctured, both arms and a shoulder broken. Mary, their 15-year-old daughter, suffered a severe fracture of her left elbow and cuts on the back of her hand. Mr. Spenneberg was not injured.

Dr. A. A. Starner, the attending physician for Mrs. Spenneberg and her daughter, said that the mother's death was caused by internal injuries and shock.

The family was taken to the offices of Dr. C. Jackson in Mt. Gilead and later this morning Mrs. Spenneberg was brought to City hospital where she died at 11:45 The daughter underwent an x-ray examination at Dr. Starner's office, and was later admitted to City hospital for an operation to set the injured elbow.

The Spenneberg family formerly lived at Worthville, Ky. Mr. Spenneberg was employed in the erection of the Midland Bank building at Cleveland.

The body was taken to the W. C. Boyd funeral home on South Main street to await funeral arrangements.

5 IN CAR ESCAPE

Automobile Skids on Curve North of Marion.

Lady Luck was riding in the sedan with Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Wargowsky, infant twin daughters and another man, all of Oak Harbor, O., this morning when their sedan skidded on North Main street at the Pennsylvania crossing, jumped the C., M. & E. car tracks and settled in a deep ditch.

According to reports of the accident, the Wargowsky car going north, attempted to pass another car. The light rain had made the pavement slippery and the sedan skidded over the tracks and down the steep embankment.

Two machines brought the passengers to the offices of Dr. J. G. McNamara of South Main street for treatment of slight cuts and bruises. Mrs. Wargowsky sustained a badly sprained wrist, the most severe injury in the party of five. The car was badly damaged.

HEAT GRIPS EUROPE; 29 DEATHS IN BRITAIN

Temperature Ranges from 94 to 120 Degrees; Workers Suffer.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Aug. 29—About one million square miles of Europe—from Scandinavia to the Mediterranean, and from the British Isles indefinitely eastward — were scorched today in a heat wave which in Britain alone has taken 29 lives in two days.

While the thermometers of England, northern, central and western Europe registered a maximum temperature of about 94, further south temperatures of as high as 120 degrees Fahrenheit were reported. Residents of the larger cities were severely tried by the excessive heat, and workers in the industrial centers were among the chief sufferers.

Several steel mills in South Wales closed temporarily yesterday when the men declared they were unable to endure the intense heat near the furnaces, a number of men in the tin plate works of the same area collapsed. The heat also overcame many workers in the textile factories of other parts of England.

EIGHT-YEAR-OLD GIRL MURDERED

South Bend, Ind., Child Found Near Home After Day's Absence.

By The Associated Press

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Aug. 29—After being attacked and then killed after being held prisoner for more than 24 hours, Marverine Appel, 8, was found dead in an alley two blocks from her home late last night.

Baling wire had been wound tightly about the girl's neck, and a deep gash had been made on the left side of the head. Deputy Coroner William K. Mikesh, of St. Joseph county, whose examination revealed that the girl had been assaulted, said she had been dead about an hour and a half when found.

Police sought a man who yesterday was reported to have asked Marverine and several other children to take a ride in his small automobile. They refused, but detectives said they believed he later had succeeded in luring the girl into his machine.

The girl disappeared from the home of her mother, Mrs. Eula Appel, late Wednesday, and police of South Bend and several northern Indiana cities were asked to search for her.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Duschatz, who live two blocks from the Appel home, discovered the body when they went to their garage last night. It was lying beside one of the doors.

Police and citizens joined in a hunt for the slayer. One suspect was arrested, but authorities were unable to establish a definite connection with the slaying. He was Jack Stancer, 32, who was held for questioning after he called at the Appel home to inquire about the girl, and assured the mother "not to worry, she will be found tomorrow."

Another clue was given the police by Mrs. Mary Mitcaret, a neighbor, who said she heard a scuffle at the rear of her home last night, and on investigating saw two men running through the yard. She could not give an adequate description of the men, however.

Gangsters Ordered To Get Out of Brooklyn

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Aug. 29— Notice has been served on gangsters in Brooklyn to get out of the borough in 48 hours or take the consequences.

Aroused by four gang killings within a week and seizure of two gangster arsenals, District Attorney George E. Brower of Kings county said he was determined to drive every gunman and racketeer from the borough. He ordered a general roundup of all suspicious characters to take place at the expiration of the 48-hour ultimatum.

Slander?

TAHOE TAVERN, Cal., Aug. 29—When Jimmy Gerard said that 57 men run this country, everybody thought it was an ad for Heinz' pickles, so he had to add Bishop Cannon and Al Capone.

Poor Jimmy, everybody jumped on his selections, everybody that wasn't mentioned and the Senate was brokenhearted in fact.

The funny part about the whole thing is the ones that are running it don't want their names mentioned, not this year, anyway. They are liable to sue Gerard for slander.

JURY RETURNS GUILTY VERDICT

Hatcher and Maid File Motions for New Trials in Jewel Case.

William Hatcher was found guilty of charges of receiving stolen property by a jury in common pleas court late yesterday.

The jury, which was charged at 2:30 p. m., deliberated for three hours before reporting its finding.

Hatcher was charged with receiving stolen property in connection with the theft of jewels from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed C. Watters of 1133 East Center street early in June. Miss Bessie Bibler maid employed in the home, Tuesday was found guilty of an indictment charging theft.

Attorneys for both Miss Bibler and Hatcher today had filed motions for new trials and pending the disposition of these motions Judge George B. Scofield will delay passing sentence on the convicted pair, it was said today.

Hatcher's defense yesterday was based on a claim that he did not know the jewels were stolen but that the maid had told him they were given her as part payment on a farm she sold recently. The maid's defense at her trial Monday and Tuesday was that Hatcher had taken the jewelry after she had admitted him to the home one day during the absence of her employers.

Fred W. Warner of the law firm of Carhart & Warner handled Miss Bibler's case and Attorney L. E. Myers was counsel for Hatcher.

MARSHAL SUES MAYOR WALKER

Deposed Official Names Chief Defendant in $250,000 Slander Suit.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Aug. 29—Mayor James J. Walker was defendant today in a $250,000 slander suit brought by a suspended city marshal who had told a federal grand jury he paid $2,000 for his job.

Jacob Cash, the suspended marshal, objected to a statement by the mayor that he was removed for "preying upon the poor" and that 29 complaints were involved in his dismissal. He contends there was only one charge against him and that that was framed.

A summons in the suit was served on the mayor as he stood on the steps at City Hall extending the city's greetings to the four German aviators who flew across the North Atlantic. He later termed the method used in serving the summons as "discourteous not only to the mayor, but to the whole city of New York."

The mayor's immediate reaction to the suit was to forward to District Attorney Crain a record of the hearing as a result of which Cash was removed, to determine whether any crime was involved in the charges.

Other angles to the various state and federal investigations into charges of office-buying and corruption among the New York judiciary included the indictment of Martin J. Healey, Tammany district leader; reopening of an investigation into the death of a former

AMERICAN GANGSTER CAN'T VISIT IRELAND

Irish Free State Bans Jack "Legs" Diamond from Country.

By International News Service

LONDON, Aug. 29—The Irish free state ministry announcing it has "definitely learned" that the notorious New York underworld character, Jack "Legs" Diamond, is aboard the White Star liner Baltic, issued orders to the Queenstown alien officer today to refuse the gangster permission to land.

Port authorities were further instructed to place a ban on all companions of Diamond, whose heralded coming to Europe has caused intense excitement here.

The ministry failed to offer further explanation on the source of its information and by what means the gangster will be identified on arrival of the Baltic in port. The captain of the vessel already has notified authorities that despite a thorough search, he has been unable to locate Diamond on the vessel.

SOUTH AMERICA ACTS TO STOP REVOLT SPREAD

Argentina Capital Bristles with Armed Forces as President Fears Attack.

FEAR URUGUAY UPRISING

New Peru Chief Orders Arrest of Aids of M. Leguia as First Act.

By The Associated Press

Revolts and threats of uprising were reported today from three Latin-American countries and from a province in Cuba.

While wholesale arrests were reported in Peru, scene of a revolt earlier in the week which resulted in the overthrow of the government of President Augusto B. Legula and the arrest of many of his followers, reports were received of a threatened revolution in the state of Rio Grande Do Sul in Brazil and the holding of troops and police for any eventuality in Argentina.

Blame Politics.

Like most of the Latin-American revolts, politics was blamed for the situation.

In Peru the army headed by Lieut. Col. Luis M. Sanchez Cerro, who was declared president in place of M. Leguia, who is under arrest on a warship in the Peruvian harbor, went about the arresting of former officers of the de facto government, charging them with malfeasance and misuse of public funds. Some of those arrested were former army officers who acted as bodyguards for the deposed president.

Reports from Montevideo, Uruguay, said that troops had been ordered held in readiness and had been confined to their barracks. This state has been the scene of constant turmoil for several years. Only last February the government was called upon to put down an uprising in the state after nine persons were seriously wounded. The state embraces a territory of some 91,000 square miles with upward of 2,000,000 inhabitants. It is one of

CITY TO GET FOUR FIREMEN

Appointments To Be Made Saturday; May Be Dismissed Jan. 1.

With the announcement today by Safety Director T. E. Sonnanstine that four new firemen would be added to the personnel of the local fire department, city property owners are assured, for the present at least, that there will be no 10 per cent increase in local fire insurance rates.

The addition of four fireman to the force, may however be only temporary, Director Sonnanstine said, it all depending on whether the proposed one mill levy is made available for operating expenses for the city. This is considered quite doubtful at present, in view of the fact that city council refused at its meeting last Monday night to place the levy on the ballot at the fall election. Council will be asked again at the meeting on Sept. 8 to place it on the ballot.

If the levy is not obtained Director Sonnanstine said there will be no alternative except to dismiss the four additional firemen the first of the year. The city will have no money for their salaries he said. If the measure is placed on the ballot it is possible that the people will allow it to pass, thus providing the necessary revenue for the payment of the firemen. If they do not vote it through, Director Sonnanstine indicated, they will have indicated they do not wish to pay for the added improvement and the fire-

"Laugh Clown, Laugh" Takes Actor To Grave

By The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 29—Rites, dramatic perhaps, as any of his films marked the funeral of Lon Chaney yesterday, laid to rest after a public display of devotion and admiration seldom seen here.

The showman's wishes carried out at the funeral provided a touch that carried the memories of his friends back to his weird portrayals.

As he died last Tuesday, the "man of a thousand faces" had asked that his "set music" be played at his funeral—the music used to inspire and aid him to carry on while the camera registered his often painful poses.

As Lieut. Col. H. S. Dyar, United States Marine Corps chaplain, completed his simple eulogy and stepped back from the silver, flower-banked casket, the strains of "Laugh, Clown, Laugh," theme song of one of Chaney's most successful pictures, sounded through the little chapel of the Guardian Angel.

Mrs. Chaney fainted. The musicians, Sam and Jack Feinberg, playing violin and portable organ, played with tears streaming down their faces.

Plans for the simple funeral Chaney wished went astray when 1,500 persons, ardent admirers eager to get a last glimpse of their idol, milled about the entrance of the chapel. Special squads of police were necessary to open a way for the funeral cortege as it began its ten-mile journey to the grave.

BULKY PLANES IN AIR RACES

Lindbergh To Take Off Late Today for Detroit; Notables Present.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Aug. 29—Bulky transport planes went through their paces at the national air races today with Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh among the onlookers.

Two major events for large ships were designed to develop a combination of speed and larger carrying capacities.

One event, the Detroit News Air Transport trophy, was open to civilians flying single-motor ships with at least 1,000 pounds of pay load, either passengers or freight. The second was the aviation town and country club trophy race.

The Lindbergh's expected to take off in late afternoon for Detroit, but the parade of notables continued to roll along. Race-going thousands were assured by officials that Capt. Wolfgang Von Gronau and his companions, who last week soared over the icebound North Atlantic, would be here for the week-end events.

The midget ships shared, too, in the program of thrills. The tiny-motored planes took the air for the free-for-all, limited to motors of 276 cubic inch piston displacement.

There were two more dashes around the pylons for women today, one for cabin ships of 350 cubic inch displacement and another for larger, more powerful open planes.

Lloyd O'Donnell, Long Beach, Calif., whose wife won the Pacific "powder puff" derby, won a 50 mile race yesterday for ships of 500 cubic inch displacement with an average speed of 128.05 miles an hour.

May Haizlip, Kansas City, won the first closed course race for women, attaining a speed of 121.08 miles an hour. The race was for

ORDER THREE BEFORE U. S. COMMISSIONER

45 Guests For Monthly Dinner at Eaglewood Surprised by Raiders.

MONTICELLO SEARCHED

Collins, Inges and Kalkbrenner Face Liquor Charges at Toledo.

The quiet serenity in which Marion county liquor vendors have been operating for more than six months was broken last night when federal prohibition agents from Toledo made a flying call, arresting one person, ordering two others to appear before a Toledo prohibition commissioner today and seizing a large quantity of alleged liquor and beer.

Two private membership clubs, one extremely exclusive, were the targets for the agents' attack last night.

At the Eaglewood club, two miles south of the city on the Prospect road, the agents seized a large quantity of alleged liquor and beer and arrested Eddie Collins, reputed to be the club bartender. Herman Kalkbrenner, said to be the owner of the establishment, was ordered to appear before the Toledo commissioner today.

James Inges, proprietor of the Monticello club on the Harding highway three miles west of Marion, also was ordered to appear before the commissioner when the officers made a visit to the club after the raid on the Eaglewood club earlier in the night.

Six federal agents under the leadership of W. M. Rankin surprised about 45 guests at the Eaglewood club when they descended on that place at 8:30 p. m. Reports from Toledo stated that the agents seized 765 pints of beer, 55 pints of whisky and 20 quarts of wine.

Apparently the officers arrived at the Eaglewood club at the opportune time, as the regular monthly social and dinner for the members was at its height. Names of the 45 persons in attendance were taken by the officers but none were held with the exception of Collins, who was placed in the city jail for safekeeping over night.

Say Liquor Bought

The officers had less luck at the Monticello club so far as finding liquor was concerned. When the agents arrived there at 11 p. m., they found no liquor, it was stated today. Inges, however, was ordered to appear before the Toledo commissioner on the strength of a "buy" the officers are said to have made from him at the club on a previous visit.

Although the Eaglewood club has been operating for about 10 years as a private membership club, this was the first run-in it has had with the prohibition or other local law enforcement agents. The club is located in a wooded tract on the west side of the Prospect road a short distance south of the Hocking Valley railroad crossing.

The Monticello club, also a membership club but less exclusive than the Eaglewood establishment, occupies a new brick building on the south side of the Harding highway, a short distance west of the Little Scioto river. It has been in operation for about two months. The building in which the club operates was constructed during the late winter and early spring by Inges at a reputed cost of $22,000.

The three men ordered to appear

FORMER CITY MAYOR DEAD

David M. Detrick, 82, Dies in Kenton; Funeral Probably Saturday.

Special To The Star

KENTON, Aug. 29 — Death claimed the life of one of Kenton's prominent citizens and business men, when David M. Detrick, 82, former mayor, passed away at his late home on Center street. He was ill but a short time being stricken with neuralgia of the heart.

Mr. Detrick was born in Clark county, Dec. 18, 1847, and came to Kenton early in life having been engaged for years as a building contractor.

During his residence he was active in public and business life of the city and had served as mayor of Kenton having been elected on the Republican ticket. He also served a number of terms as a Justice of Peace. He was a member of the First Reformed church.

There are surviving: the widow, Louise; three sons, Jesse E., of Columbus, and Lincoln A. and Warren of Springfield, and one daughter, Mrs. Kate Click of Springfield, Ohio.

Funeral services will probably be held Saturday.

SALVATION ARMY HEAD TRANSFERRED

Ensign and Mrs. Shackleford To Be Replaced by Two Women Here.

Ensign and Mrs. Walter Shackelford and family, at the head of the local Salvation Army corps, will leave Wednesday to take over work at Mt. Vernon, O. They will be succeeded by two women, Ensign L. Newton and Lieutenant Marin.

Since coming to Marion, Ensign Shackelford has made it possible for the Army to have a new home, and to be put on a firmer financial foundation.

Mrs. Thomas Wallace of Richwood gave a farewell dinner last night following a farewell meeting with the members of the Out Post Corps of Richwood, at which several members were added to the roll.

A farewell meeting will be held Sunday at 7:45 p. m. at the local hall on the North State street.

Marion Labor Program To Go on Air from Columbus

Plans For Monday Activities Here Will Be Broadcast Tonight Over Station WAIU. Chamber of Commerce and Sub-Committees Complete Preparations.

Plans for the Labor day celebration at Crystal Lake park Monday are to be broadcast over station WAIU, Columbus, today at 8:30 p. m. by Gilbert Belt, president of the Columbus Federation of Labor, which will cooperate with the Marion Central Labor Union in the program.

Belt will be here Monday to speak during the afternoon, at which time Gov. Myers Y. Cooper also will speak.

Final preparations for the celebration were outlined at a dinner meeting of the convention committee of the Chamber of Commerce and sub-committees made up of representatives of various local organizations which are helping to sponsor the program. The dinner was held in the Marion Hotel with Charles Klunk, chairman of the general committee, in charge.

Proceeds Go For Conventions

Proceeds of a wrestling program which will be held at the park pavilion Monday night will be used by the convention committee to obtain conventions here, as well as to advertise the city.

Jack Reynolds, world's welterweight champion, will meet Yaqui Joe, Mexican challenger, in the feature bout of the card.

Two recreational baseball games have been arranged for the Labor day program according to an announcement made today by Ralph Ruppart, secretary of the Marion Central Labor Union, which is sponsoring the day's entertainment in cooperation with other local organizations.

Ball Game Feature

The feature of the two games will bring together the Erie Roundhouse nine, champions of the city industrial league, and the Columbus Firemen, who have had a winning team all summer. The tilt will start at 5:15 p. m. and will be played on Hamilton field north of and adjacent to the park.

The other game will be played between officers of the Marion Central Labor Union and the Columbus Federation of Labor. Ruppart will pitch for the home team with Harold Lusch catching.

Both games will be free. Prizes will be awarded in the first game for home runs and other extra-base hits, as well as stolen bases, strikeouts and other bits of skill.

KEEP CLOSE GUARD TILL ELECTROCUTION

Three Convicts Die for Killing Fellow-Prisoner in Auburn Riot.

OSSINING, N. Y., Aug. 29—Guarded closely to frustrate any last minute attempt at violence three convicts were electrocuted last night for the slaying of a fellow convict during the Auburn prison riot of last December.

Claud Udwine, 29; William Force, 30, and Jesse Thomas, 20, were convicted of slaying Henry Sullivan, leader of the mutiny in which ten lives were lost.

The arms of the three men were grasped tightly by guards during the march from their cells to the death chamber. Warden Lewis E. Lawes later explained that one of the men earlier in the day had tried to induce a woman relative to smuggle in a gun.

Thomas was the first to be executed and was followed quickly by Force and Udwine.

An attempt by Stella Udwine, sister of one of the men, to see Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt at a hotel where he was staying at Oswego, N. Y., failed when she was refused admittance to his suite.

In the December riot at Auburn prison, Sullivan, eight other prisoners and principal keeper George Durnford were killed. Six men were tried on charges of murdering Sullivan, but the other three acquitted.

Thomas, at the time of the riot, had been serving a life term for robbery; Force, sixteen years for burglary and grand larceny, and Udwine thirty years for robbery.

STUNTING PLANES IN CRASH AT IOWA FAIR

Two Spectators in Serious Condition When One Plane Rips into Tent.

By International News Service

DES MOINES, Aug. 29—Two persons were in a serious condition at local hospitals and six others are less seriously injured today as the result of a mid-air collision of two planes at the Iowa state fair yesterday afternoon.

The accident occurred during a race between members of the stunting troupe, the Three Flying Sons O' Guns, and caused one plane to crash, striking several persons as it fell.

Vernon Devote, 24, of Mitchellville, Ia., and Harold Waller, 10, Norwalk, Ia., spectators, suffered fractured skulls.

The mishap occurred during a race when Lieutenant Leo Allen attempted to swoop to the left and below the ship of Lieutenant Younglove. The two planes caught, Allen's tearing through the side of a tent. Younglove righted his ship and landed.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29—Stressing the vital need for state and local cooperation in prohibition enforcement, Assistant Attorney General Youngquist in a radio address last night said effective enforcement by federal forces, unaided, was an 'utter impossibility."

The number of federal agents—estimated at one to every 70,000 people—he described as "pitifully inadequate" to the task of drying up the country. Reiterating the appeal for state cooperation frequently voiced of late by Attorney General Mitchell, Prohibition Director Woodcock and Chairman Wickersham of the law enforcement commission, Youngquist said the local authorities in many sections already were giving valuable help.

Pointing out that every state but five had liquor laws of their own and that many municipalities also had enforcement statutes, the Assistant Attorney General said local peace officers numbered 175,000, compared to the 1,750 federal agents—a much more adequate force for making the statutes effective.

Last night it was learned also from Prohibition Director Woodcock that no reduction in expenditures could be expected in the enforcement bureau. Congress appropriated $15,000,000 for the present fiscal year and this sum has to be divided with the treasury's alcohol bureau.

GALION—A daughter was born yesterday to Mr. and Mrs. B. M Smith, on Park avenue.

MEN HELD IN THEFT OF CLOTHING HERE

Portion of Clothes Recovered; Name Not Given by Police.

With one man in prison and a large portion of the alleged stolen loot recovered, police today believe they had solved the theft here of goods valued at $300 from the automobile of Mrs. Thad D. Hare of Hubbardwood, Ill.

Mrs. Hare reported to police yesterday that the suitcase and hat case filled with women's wearing apparel valued at $300 was taken from her car Wednesday night while it was parked in the vicinity of the Union station.

A local man was arrested yesterday when police say they found a large part of the alleged loot in his home. The name of the prisoner has not been disclosed by authorities.

POLICE CHIEF BEGINS CLEANUP CAMPAIGN

Canton Head Suspends Two Patrolmen for Leaving City While on Duty.

By Brush-Moore Leased Wire

CANTON, O., Aug. 29—Given full authority to "set his house in order" and promised the support of the mayor and safety director, Police Chief Earl W. Hexamer as his first move in the police department shakeup suspended two patrolmen, Cleveland Bennet and J. P. Nelson. Both are charged with leaving the city while on duty and of conduct unbecoming an officer.

The shakeup order followed Safety Director George F. Schoner's investigation of strange happenings at the municipal reservoir. Two boys saw the patrolmen park their car on a side road near the reservoir. Another large car drew up. Then came a truck. They saw packages transferred from the truck to the large car.

The boys returned the next night. They found the same conditions. Their fathers communicated with the safety director, who drove to the scene the following night, parked near the spot where the strange events were reported.

A few minutes later a police car drew up and parked, Schoner related. In it were Bennet and Nelson. They explained that they were investigating complaints of persons parking there. When another car approached one of the patrolmen, Schoner claims, waved his flashlight up and down. The driver in his haste to get away left the road and ran his car down a steep incline, but managed to escape.

Suspension of the two men, Chief Hexamer announced, was an outgrowth of the safety director's investigation of the stories told by the two boys.

Erie Switchman Hurt in Fall from Car

Irvin Isenbarger, 40, switchman for the Erie railroad, was injured in an accident in the yards today about 2:30 a. m. He was riding a stock car and was thrown to the ground against a switch light. He was hurt about the stomach and head, but the injuries were not serious. He was taken to City hospital in the W. C. Boyd ambulance.

ROBS JEWELRY STORE

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 29—A young man yesterday walked into the jewelry store of Charles F. Narseley, held it up with a covered pistol, picked out $1,500 in jewelry and walked calmly through the door after slugging the owner just before leaving. Police are looking for him today.

BRIBE CHARGE FALSE, CLAIM

Oberlander Denies Accusations of Commissioner; Hurls Counter-Charges.

Special To The Star

BUCYRUS, Aug. 29—Charges, counter-charges and denials occupied the morning session of the hearing in common pleas court here of the application of H. N. Oberlander and George Rinsel, bondsmen for Wilbur Hand, convicted bank robber, for the reduction of the $25,000 bond they furnished for Hand. The bond was ordered paid when Hand "skipped" and the bondsmen are attempting to have the amount of the bond reduced.

Oberlander took the stand today to deny charges made Monday by County Commissioner H. R. Smith that the bondsman had attempted to bride him and other officials in an attempt to obtain reduction of the bond.

He counter-charged that Smith had come to him and asked repeatedly "what was in it for him" if the bond would be reduced. Testimony of Merrill Needles, employe in the Oberlander hotel, substantiated that, Needles claiming to have overheard Smith's words.

Smith took the stand to deny he had asked "what was in it for him" and charged that Needles was not in the room when he talked with Oberlander.

Other testimony was given by Attorneys Schaber and Leuthold, counsel for Oberlander, to refute charges of attempted bribery made against Oberlander by Smith.

The hearing was resumed this afternoon.

WINNERS IN VOCAL AUDITION PICKED

Prospect Woman and Bucyrus Man To Compete in State Contest.

Miss Lucille Thomas of Prospect and Daniel Earl Baker of Bucyrus, were named winners in the local audition contest sponsored by the Atwater Kent foundation of Philadelphia, last night at the Ohio theater. The young people will compete for district honors with contestants from other parts of the state in a state contest to be held next month.

The young people were chosen from a group of 17 entrants by a committee of confidential judges in a program regarded by them as being of a very high grade and closely contested.

Miss Thomas, who possesses a lovely coloratura soprano voice, sang "Chanson Provencale," by E. Del 'Acqua, and her accompaniment was played by Miss Elizabeth Wottring of Prospect. She has studied for a year in the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music where she is a member of the Cincinnati Conservatory Oratory chorus. She also is a graduate of Prospect high school. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Thomas of Prospect.

Mr. Baker is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Baker of Shelby road. His baritone voice is of unusual quality and range and was ably displayed in his selection "On the Road to Mandalay." Mr. Baker is a graduate of the Bucyrus high school where he sang with members of a quartet. He is a student of Mrs. William Unger of that city. His accompaniment was played by Miss Ludwig of Bucyrus.

Other contestants, all of whom received commendable praise from the judges, were Robert McAlpin of Ada, Miss Frances Imbody of La-Rue, Mrs. Robert Culver of Upper Sandusky, Russell Dye of Mt. Gilead, Wayne Westbrook of Cardington, Miss Doris Moyer of Prospect, Miss Lucille Hill of Galion, Bud Kaple of New Washington, Miss Lois Snodgrass, Miss Harriet Ann Nippert, Miss Virginia Fowler, Miss Lavona Peacock, Miss Bernita LeMasters, William Dowler and Ben Gilmore of this city.

The local audition was in charge of Mrs. Karl W. Schell, president of the Lecture-Recital club.

CLAIM MANY GIVEN MONEY FOR VOTES

Residents of One County Cast Primary Ballots in Another, Is Charge.

By Brush-Moore Leased Wire

PORTSMOUTH, O., Aug. 29—Officials of Georgetown and Brown county are investigating complaints that many residents of Scioto and other nearby counties were induced to go to Brown county to vote in the recent primary on the Democratic ticket and that they received compensation for their votes, some as high as five dollars.

A bitter fight in Brown county brought out as large a vote as the last presidential election.

The most hotly contested post on Democratic ticket was for nomination of common pleas judge which Harry W. Parker, incumbent, and J. W. Bagby were candidates and which Bagby won by seventy-six votes. Two years ago Parker defeated Bagby for the bench.

Will and Lester Nichols Found Guilty by Jury

UPPER SANDUSKY, Aug. 29—After deliberating over two hours, the jury in the case of Will and Lester Nichols, charged with the holding up and the robbing of the Robert McCleary general store at Brownstown last June, returned a verdict of guilty against both the defendants last night.

Charles Steck, of near this city, was the foreman of the jury. According to the statutes, the penalty is from 10 to 25 years in the penitentiary. In the first trial the jury failed to agree upon a verdict.

VETERAN WAITS FOR BEGINNING OF RACE

Frank S. Lahm, 84-Year-Old Father of American Balloon Racing Can't Attend in Cleveland.

By The Associated Press

AKRON, O., Aug. 29 — When the huge gas bags take off at Cleveland Monday in the latest renewal of the international competition for the James Gordon Bennett trophy an old man at Turkey Foot Lake, near Akron, will be hoping for them to float this way.

Frank S. Lahm, 84-year-old father of American balloon racing, will be unable to be in Cleveland for the start. He fears the strain of attendance would be too much on him. Lahm makes only two journeys each year now.

Every summer he travels from Paris, where he is known as the oldest American resident to Turkey Foot Lake, a spot he has visited annually for the last 54 years. Every fall he journeys from the lake back to Paris.

Years ago he was one of the organizers of the Aero club of France, qualifying for membership by 13 balloon ascensions, including night and solo flights. He was a member of the club's governing committee that persuaded James Gordon Bennett to donate his first international balloon race trophy in 1906.

That year Lahm saw his son, now Brig. Gen. Frank P. Lahm of the army air service, win the trophy. With seven balloons manned by expert European pilots entered there had been no American entry.

Lahm taught his son the science in time for him to enter the competition and sail across the English channel to Scotland and victory.

Frank P. Lahm in turn interested his cousin, Ralph Upson, then of Akron and now of Detroit, in the gas bag sport and in 1913 Upson brought the world title again to this country.

Upson became the instructor of Ward T. Van Orman who won the title in 1926 and 1928 and is competing again this year at Cleveland.

Another link in the interlocking chain of champions may be added this year by R. J. Blair of Akron, flying the City of Cleveland.

Van Orman was Blair's teacher and the pupil learned his lesson well enough to win the 1930 national competition. Now he is competing against his master for the world title.

It is probable that all of the American winners of the world title will meet again at Cleveland. Brigadier General Frank P. Lahm is scheduled to be among the visiting celebrities and Upson seldom misses attendance at a balloon race.

FOUR GUNMEN ROB EXPRESS EMPLOYES

Victims Kidnaped and Thrown from Auto Short Distance from Robbery Scene.

By International News Service

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Aug. 29—Four gunmen today kidnaped two messengers of the Railway Express Co. offices here and after robbing them of $2,000, released the men and made good an escape.

The quartet waylaid the messengers, Harold Streelman and Harvey Sheldon, as they were leaving the offices with a strong box containing the money.

They were thrown from the bandits' automobile about a half mile from the scene of the kidnaping.

First reports of the robbery said that the gunmen had invaded the offices and escaped with all of the cash on hand.

Congressman Grant E. Mouser Jr. was the principal speaker yesterday at the regular weekly meeting of the Marion Kiwanis club at the Marion club. He spoke on "How Congress Functions."

A previous invitation by the local Chamber of Commerce to the Ohio Conference of the Methodist church inviting that body to hold its annual conference in Marion in September of next year was indorsed by the Kiwanis club.

Edson Rupp, head football coach of Denison university, will be the featured speaker next Thursday at the Kiwanis meeting.

LOCAL CHURCH WINS IN MUSIC CONTEST

Two Firsts and One Second Fall to Marion Contestants at Greensprings.

Marion won two first places and one second place in the music contest held at the close of the annual summer assembly of the Church of the Brethren at Greensprings last night. Rev. G. G. Canfield, pastor of the local church was director of the contest.

Miss Catherine Canfield won second place in the piano solo contest. The womtn's quartet from Marion, including Mrs. Agnes Baird, Miss Elinore Thompson, Mrs. Forest Ballinger and Mrs. Ellis Snyder, won first place over two other competing quartets. Miss Canfield and Miss Thompson won first honors in the woman's duet group.

The contest was given in a capacity house, according to Rev. Canfield.

OFFICES OF HARDING OPEN FOR STUDENTS

Schedules for Coming Term May Be Drawn Up Before Opening.

The offices of Harding High school are open for the convenience of students who wish to arrange for the coming year's work. Those who did not select their course of study last year, or who desire to change a subject for which they enrolled, will save confusion on the opening day, Sept. 8, by calling at the offices before the opening of school and completing their schedules.

Parents may consult those in the office in regard to a suitable course of study for next year and students from out of the city who wish to do so, may outline the courses of study they wish to pursue.

French production of paper and its products is estimated at 850,000 metric tons annually, a ten per cent increase in five years.

POLICE SHOT

Department Heads in India in Serious Condition.

By The Associated Press

CALCUTTA, India, Aug. 29—F. J. Lowman, acting inspector general of police and E. Hodson, superintendent of police, were both shot and seriously wounded today while leaving the Mitford hospital at Dacca.

A revolver was the weapon used. A hospital employe seized the Bengali youth firing the shots but could not hold him and he escaped, leaving behind his gun and slippers. Later two Bengali youths were arrested on suspicion in connection with the crime.

The Fall Lineup.

Republicans and Democrats in Ohio are ready to do battle. In fact, there was just a whiff of fall football spirit in the announcements issued Tuesday from Columbus, where state committeemen went into a pre-campaign huddle. Each party is in fine shape, signals working smoothly and every member ready to do his job. So say publicity departments, even as in football.

Three results of Tuesday's meetings are of special importance. First, the Democrats have decided what their position on prohibition will be called. Robert J. Bulkley, wet Democrat senatorial candidate, spoke for his party. He said:

"After careful consideration, my colleagues on the state ticket have concluded that the inclusion of a plank in the state platform declaring for the repeal of the eighteenth amendment and federal enforcement acts would give the subject a false emphasis as a state issue and tend to becloud other issues of importance."

Therefore, Mr. Bulkley, although not in agreement with his colleagues, agrees that no declaration concerning national prohibition shall be included in the state platform. Prohibition is a federal issue, he maintains. As straddles go it is an ungraceful one.

Second, there is the indorsement of Mrs. Wilma Sinclair LeVan, of Steubenville, for national committeewoman to succeed the late Mrs. Elizabeth Clark. Mrs. LeVan was not favored by the Republican voice which speaks from Washington and is transmitted by Maurice Maschke through A. J. Hirstius. But she was favored by Fred W. Warner of Marion and others on the state central committee who put more trust in their own judgment and Mrs. LeVan's record than that of the voice from Washington. So Mrs. LeVan was indorsed and will be elected, in all probability, by the national executive committee.

Third, but connected closely with Mrs. LeVan's indorsement, was the rebuff of National Committeeman Maschke and Postmaster General Walter F. Brown, "the voice from Washington." They opposed indorsement of Mrs. LeVan and they took a licking. They tried to tell the central committee what to do and talked into thin air. Furthermore, one of the disturbing factors in the meeting was Arthur H. Nixon, of Dayton, deposed chairman—forced to resign by the Cooper backers to make room for Edward D. Schorr, of Cincinnati, state commerce director.

Can this mean that the magic wand waved so long and so well by Mr. Brown and Mr. Maschke is losing some of its power? Or does it mean that Mrs. LeVan, one of the state's staunchest Republicans and one of the party's best organizers, just couldn't be kept out of the picture? A little of each, perhaps. At any rate, Ohio Republicans are going to help dictate some of the orders they have to take.

The national wealth of the United States in 1928 was $366,100,000,000, the per capita wealth having been $3,000, the nominal increase of 93.3 per cent, in the sixteen year period from 1912 to 1928 being a real increase of thirty-seven per cent., the difference in the purchasing power of the dollar in 1912 and 1928 being considered. These figures cover tangible wealth only, credits and currency being excluded. In other words, to be up to the average, one must own tangible physical assets worth $3,000.

A Silver Lining.

Certain agitation is now being instituted by Senator Oddie, of Nevada, for the greater use of silver money. He suggests as an aid for this end, reduction in size of the coins, thereby facilitating their use. Under his plan the silver dollar or "cart wheel," as it is more popularly known, would be diminished almost to the size of the half dollar, the half dollar would lose about a quarter of its bulk, while the quarter would remain the same size.

Even with the aid that the greater use of the silver would give to the western states producing the metal, it is quite doubtful if the people in the East could be educated to use more of the "hard cash"—and even if they were, where would they get it? And further; just supposing they did have some of the abbreviated silver dollars, who would want to carry ten of them about in his pocket?

The tendency at present seems to be toward the ancient "shin plasters" rather than to the revival of the use of the silver coins of the larger denominations. As a suggestion it would seem that to aid in the facilitating of the handling of money and at the same time aid the silver producing states by using their product, why not institute a system of "shin plasters" with silver backing or a silver lining. That seems to be the only feasible plan under which Senator Oddie's ideas could be carried out.

Remembering a Birthday.

Two years ago an event of world importance occurred in Paris. Its anniversary, on Wednesday, was forgotten by most, regarded as of little importance by others. A few observed it with the serious thought and ceremony which it deserves.

The Kellogg-Briand pact for the renunciation of war, signed in Paris August 27, 1928, by the plenipotentiaries of fifteen nations, including the United States, is undisputed in present preeminence as an instrument to eliminate war from the international scheme. Both in substance and in the manner of its making, it is a definite recognition of the fact that times are changing. President Hoover, in proclaiming the bringing into force of the treaty July 2, 1929, said:

"I congratulate this assembly, the states it represents, and indeed, the entire world upon the coming into force of this additional instrument of humane endeavor to do away with war as an instrument of national policy and to obtain by pacific means alone the settlement of international disputes."

The Paris peace pact, as it is better known than by the names of its authors, is the logical answer to a world-wide demand that mankind be liberated from the yoke of war, its horrors and disaster. Regardless of whatever motives may have entered into its making, it is an instrument of pure ideality—so pure indeed as to be beyond the grasp of minds whose conceptions are limited by national boundaries. However, it established no machinery for peaceful settlement or cooperation among governments. That is left to other projects supplementary to its purpose—the League of Nations, the World courts, The Hague tribunal. For this reason, perhaps, a comparatively small amount of public notice is taken of the pact. Its importance, fortunately, exists apart from the quantity of its advertising.

The articles of the Paris peace pact are presented herewith:

Article 1—The high contracting parties solemnly declare in the names of their respective people that they condemn recourse to war for the solution of international controversies, and renounce it as an instrument of national policy in their relations with one another.

Article 2—The high contracting parties agree that the settlement or solution of all disputes or conflicts of whatever nature or of whatever origin they may be, which may arise among them shall never be sought except by pacific means.

Eight sheet and two jobbing mills of the American Sheet and Tin Plate company over in New Philadelphia have resumed work, employing 550 men. It may be held that employment for such a number of men is a mere drop in the bucket, but such drops are reported from all parts of the land. Conditions actually are improving.

A New Jersey girl of twenty-one married Lennoper Triebel in Jersey City January 19 and has married him three times since. The first was a secret marriage. The second was a public marriage by the pastor who had married her secretly. The third ceremony was performed in New Haven, Connecticut, and the fourth in New York City's municipal chapel last week. She must be hunting for a ceremony she thinks will "take."

The forty-year-old woman of South Park, Illinois, who planted herself upon the sidewalk in front of her home, planning to read her Bible at night and sing hymns during the daytime for a period of three months, was removed by the police on a charge of obstructing traffic. It should soon become apparent that a lot of the participants in present-day endurance feats should receive the attention of alienists rather than that of police departments.

A young Russian red at Chester, Pennsylvania, has been given a prison sentence and a fine of $5,000 for sedition. Why should this country maintain the seditious when it can relieve itself of the charges holding them in prison will entail by shipping them back to the lands from which they come?

Some days since a dispatch from the Saskatchewan told how rats were raised up there to collect the bounty on rat tails. A counterpart of that bounty-working racket was discovered this week out in Kansas, where coyote scalps are being imported to get the dollar paid for each coyote scalp. It's getting so that a lot of people will work twice as hard to gain a dollar through a racket as they would have to labor to acquire it by honest endeavor.

Stanley Matthews Enters Politics.

BY J. H. GALBRAITH.

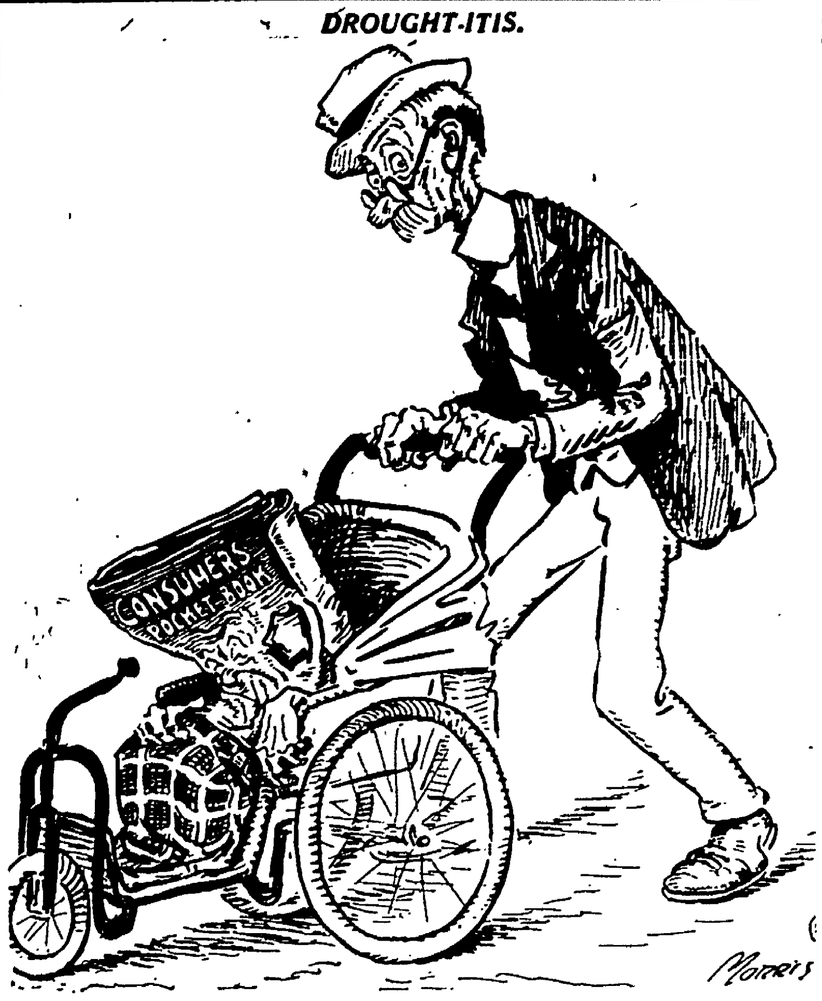
It was in the stormy sessions of the forty-seventh legislature which elected Salmon P. Chase to the United States senate that Stanley Matthews received his baptism in politics and entered upon a long and distinguished career of public service. There were deadlocks on both sides of that legislature that delayed organization for weeks, and there was a contest in the canvass of the votes cast for governor in the preceding October—1843—resulting in the decision that Seabury Ford had been elected over John B. Weller by 311 votes.

Matthews, then twenty-four years old, became a candidate for election as clerk of the house and was fortunate in being lined up with the winning side. The speakership went to John G. Breslin, the man who later, as treasurer of the state, defaulted and carried down with him General William H. Gibson, his brother-in-law, who had nothing more to do with the wrongdoing than that of being elected to succeed Breslin. Ascertaining the conditions, he did not at once make them known, but naturally tried to shield his relative in the hope that the deficit might be made good.

There were two free-soilers in that legislature who had been elected as independents. They were Norton S. Townshend, later a prominent member of the Ohio State university faculty, and Colonel John F. Morse, who, by political strategy, contrived to win over a majority for Chase and the senatorship.

It was in the opening days of 1849 that Stanley Matthews secured election to this, his first political office. He gave distinguished service in the Civil war, in 1877 was elected to the United States senate, and in 1889 died while serving as a justice of the supreme court to which he was appointed in 1881.

DROUGHT-ITIS.



Editorial Opinion.

ELECTION PSYCHOLOGY.

It has long been true in the United States—and elsewhere, for that matter—that popular elections are less an opportunity for voters to choose between important issues than a chance to censure political leaders for allowing unsatisfactory economic conditions to exist. Political figures may or may not be responsible for such conditions, usually are not. But they are the most convenient persons on which to place the blame.

This autumn, as in other instances, this feeling will doubtless predominate. There is, however, a tendency to place blame, not so much on political leaders simply because they have occupied places of responsibility, but on those who have been lavish with public funds at a time when the public is finding it none too easy to meet tax bills.

In this respect the voters' psychology appears to be sound. Rashness in governmental expenditure is an error that can not be forgiven a legislator, however much he needs the extra votes which generous appropriations might win for him. If there is to be a spirit of revenge in the August primaries and the November elections—and there always is something of that spirit—it had best be directed at the men who have placed their political futures ahead of the urgent need for public economy.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

PHONE-Y COURTESY.

Since now several weeks have passed since this department took its flat-footed and fearless stand against the extended heat and insufferable drought, it is again probably high time that we viewed something with alarm, just to keep our editorial hand in.

This time we condemn, wholly and entirely, unconditionally and in no uncertain terms, the growing prevalence of a particular type of telephone discourtesy.

This is the practice of "Big Business Men," and their carbon copies, "The Lesser Employes," of pretending that nobody's time save their own is of any value. The thing works like this:

The office phone rings. "Is Mr. Whoosis in?" comes a feminine voice from the other end.

Mr. Whoosis, a kindly and obliging soul, goes to the phone. "Is this Mr. Whoosis?" questions the feminine voice.

"It is," says Mr. Whoosis.

"Hold the line, Mr. Whoosis," says the voice, sweetly. But not so sweetly as to placate Mr. Whoosis as he waits, waits and waits some more. At last, after seeming eons of time, some "Big Business Man" or "Carbon Copy" at the other end, finally designs to talk to Mr. Whoosis. The secretary has called Mr. Whoosis and Mr. Whoosis waits until the "Grand Mogul" is able to talk.

This is most provoking. No business man is so darned busy that he can afford to make everybody mad by waiting for him on the phone while his secretary summons strangers to his bidding.

We'll bet Charlie Schwab doesn't do that kind of stuff, and he's pretty busy. Quite a successful man, too, they tell us.—Columbus Citizen.

BEAUTY SHOPS.

One is accustomed to accepting the newspapers as efficient instruments for spreading news. Another agency existing, at least in part, for the same purpose, is seldom given credit.

The reference is to the beauty shops. They are invaluable in knitting the community together by making large numbers of the feminine population aware of what other large numbers of the population, both masculine and feminine, are doing at the moment.

Frequently, as a man, we are mystified at the extent of the knowledge of minor happenings possessed by our, shall we say, girl friends. They know amazingly interesting tidbits of local information that other men and ourselves are wholly without.

"And where did you hear that?" is our oft-repeated query. Invariably the answer is: "At the beauty shop."

Beauty shops must be fascinating places.—Columbus Citizen.

Don't Chance Tetanus.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

I recently received a letter from a mother whose son had been very ill with tetanus. She wishes to know something more about this serious condition.

Tetanus is an infectious disease, characterized by rigid, or unrelaxing, spasms of the muscles. The more familiar name is "lockjaw," as the symptom commonly seen is a clamping or rigidity of the jaws.

Tetanus is generally caused by infection of a wound. Occasionally cases have been thought to have been caused by inhaling infected dust, or by eating uncooked vegetables which were contaminated. The germ is found especially about stables, gardens or other places where the earth has been enriched.

Many cases followed wounds from cap pistols and blank cartridges used in celebrating the Fourth of July until the sale of these dangerous playthings was reduced by repeated warnings. During the World war many cases developed among the soldiers.

Usually the first symptom is a feeling of stiffness in the neck muscles. The stiffness spreads to the muscles of the jaw and of the face. The muscles of the throat become involved, causing difficulty in swallowing.

As the body muscles are affected and the spasms develop, the body may be so arched as to be raised from the bed, until only the head and heels are touching the bed. The spasms are accompanied by terrific pain.

To avoid trouble all wounds must be carefully looked after. If there is the least suspicion that a wound has been made by some infected article be sure to thoroughly cleanse the wound, enlarging it if necessary. Cauterization is desirable. As soon as possible tetanus antitoxin should be administered by your physician.

As the symptoms develop the patient must be kept quiet in a dark room. All irritations, such as sudden light or sound, jarring of the bed, or even a light touch on the skin, must be avoided. They bring on the spasms.

Sleep must be obtained. To this end sedatives will be prescribed by the doctor in charge.

There is a valuable serum used to prevent or combat tetanus. Your doctor will tell you about its

Twenty Years Ago.

It was Monday, August 29.

After an existence of over 600 years as a kingdom, Korea was taken over by Japan.

Colonel Roosevelt reached Denver, Colorado, on his western trip and was given a rousing reception.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. William L. Vermillion, of Waterloo street.

Local surgeons were puzzled by the fact that Fireman A. Walcutt was still alive despite the awful injuries he received when a Hocking Valley passenger train crashed into a threshing outfit north of Harpster. At the time it was not expected that he would live an hour.

Marion got to Miller early in the game, while Portsmouth did little with Osborne, with the result that Marion won, five to three, and pulled Portsmouth out of the Ohio State race lead.

The King's Daughters of the First Presbyterian church were entertained at the home of Miss Mildred Christian, of west Church street.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Walter B. Whitehead, of Toledo avenue.

The Reign of Science.

BY ARCHIBALD HENDERSON.

The problem of science is to determine the cause of the behavior of phenomena. The discovery of the cause usually results in the formulation of a law. This may be a mechanical, physical, chemical or mathematical law, as the case may be. But once the law has been correctly determined we can accurately predict the behavior of the phenomena in question. This is exceedingly important in the domain of astronomy. The laws which have been discovered dictate and rigidly control the behavior of celestial bodies, their volume, masses, densities, radiations and orbits.

For instance, there is a relation between the sizes and densities of stars, which is a physical law of great significance. The relationship is an inverse one—the greater the size the lower the density, and conversely.

Consider, for example, our sun which has a diameter somewhat less than 900,000 miles. Its mean density is high, being one and four-tenths times that of water. Consider, on the other hand, a huge star like Antares, the brighest star in the constellation of the Scorpion. The diameter of this giant star is about 250,000,000 miles. But its mean density is less than one-millionth of water.

The heaviest elements we have on earth, such as platinum, are only about twenty-two times as heavy as water. But there are stars no larger than the planets in our solar system which have densities ranging up to many thousand times that of water. This is vastly beyond the density of anything yet discovered upon our own earth.

The explanation for these very high densities in the stars is given by the new theories of Einstein and Bohr. As the outer electrons have been stripped away from the atoms in the interior of a star, which is at an excessively high temperature, the atoms can be packed much more closely together and the material of the star, in consequence, becomes correspondingly dense.

Consider the example of the companion of Sirius. Its mass is nearly equal to that of the sun and about two-fifths that of Sirius itself. For long it was thought that the companion of Sirius was at a very low temperature, because it has such a low luminosity in proportion of its mass. But the principles of generalized relativity formulated by Einstein have entirely upset this notion.

The spectral displacement is now known to depend upon the mass of a star and to vary inversely as its radius. The investigations conducted by Adams at Mount Wilson indicate for the companion of Sirius a radius of about one-thirtieth that of the sun, but a density 36,000 times as great. This would make the density of the companion of Sirius about 50,000 times the density fo water.

The extraordinary results of the above-mentioned laws clearly show that things are as they are because the laws require them to be so. They could not be otherwise. Eddington has given the results according to these new physical laws, of the possible existence of a globe the size of Betelgeuse and mean density one and four-tenths that of water. The actual diameter of Betelgeuse is 200,000,000 miles, but its density is only about one-millionth that of water. Here are Eddington's conclusions:

First, owing to the great intensity of its gravitation, light would be unable to escape, and any rays shot out would fall back again to the star by their own weight.

Second, the relativistic displacement would be so great that the spectrum would be shifted out of existence.

Third, mass produces a curvature of space, and in this curve the curvature would be so great that space would close up round the star, leaving us outside—that is to say, nowhere.—Copyright, 1930, International Feature Service, Inc.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. M'INTYRE.

New York, Aug. 29—Thoughts while strolling: How many remember when a muffle scarf was a "throw?" An auto license plate, U-13—sounds like a submarine. What became of Frederic and Fanny Hatton? Tweedy boys who say "Howjudew?" Surprise for a beauty picker—the brunet manageress at Schrafft's on the avenue near Forty-sixth.

Robert Garland, a Baltimore boy, who made good in the city. Very few ladies know how to wear neck furs. Jefferson Machamer, the artist. Rheumy-eyed old roues, who totter to leg show matinees. Then sit down front and doze. Second hand auto—$8.50. A new cabaret, "Hot Ashes."

Restaurant offers menus for children. A Chinese laundryman—Sing Sing. William Lyon Phelps, the critic. Sign: "Pent house for quiet bachelor. Leslie Howard or his double. Those two polite traffic cops at Madison avenue and Sixth street. Wish Ben Bernie would come back to town.

A cake of bath soap—eight dollars. I used to have a room and bath weekly for that at the Gerdes in Cincinnati. The antique shop society speak-easy. Julia Marlowe turning into her Park avenue apartment-house. Margola Gilmore has a look of perpetual surprise. Like Ring Lardner.

Wrecking sign: "This building must be down in thirty days or we lose $25,000." I've a notion to take off my coat and help. Wonder what Helen Morgan would charge to sing to me an hour or so? Justine Hall, who used to go to school with our gang and doesn't look thirty. Zoe Beckley.

Ladies who wear white orchids to luncheons. The avenue is to have a bird shop called "The Audubon." Maury Paul breezing along. Gloomy side street Russia cafes, but tres cher. For a $2.50 cover charge they give you the Volga boat thing and a sitting-down kick-out dancer.

The St. Thomas gargoyles. And Latin inscription on the University club. Bow-legged men in butter-bean shaped riding pants. A red vests. Sigmund Romberg, the composer. Who used to play the piano in Bustanoby's basement. And now roosts in an avenue sky castle.

Devastating changes come to "Tin Pan Alley" with the talkie theme song. A tune such as "Alexander's Rag Time Band" used to last a year. A hit tune often sold in remote areas ten years after publication. The radio stopped that. Even a misery song is lucky to last two months, thank heavens.

* * *

Kin Hubbard's 1926 observation the only way to cross a crowded New York street was to lead a cow is more fitting than ever. I saw a gentleman almost test the immortality of his soul under four different autos this morning crossing Park avenue at Fiftieth street. "You made it!" I congratulated with a utterly Ed Wynn laugh and my customary goofiness for saying the wrong thing at the wrong time. And the way he looked me over I know better than ever there is something more the matter with me than just splay feet.

The idea has likely been elaborated, but after years of trying to cross Fifth avenue it might be comical to call it "Flt" avenue. Never mind, you can't expect to die laughing after each paragraph.

It won't be long until they have cover charges at soda fountains and in such an event look for me well up front in the rioting.

Lights o' London.

BY TEMPLE MANNING.

There was once a play, a very gory and thrilling melodrama, called "Lights o' London." It purported to relate London night life as it existed in the mauve decade of Queen Victoria. But night life in London is different—very different—today. And that brings us to Whitechapel, the district which the reformers and feature writers are fond of referring to as London's sinkhole of iniquity. It's a tough spot, and the casual visitor is not advised to wander through there showing signs of opulence.

When evening falls on London the city takes on a character all its own. There is nothing like it to be seen anywhere. New York is different, Paris is different. There is only one London at night. It is simple enough for the visitor to follow the path to the expensive and prominent places of amusement, so perhaps it would be more amusing for us to have a look at the spots where 'Arry and his 'Arriet put in their time. 'Arry, you must know, is the Londoner's way of referring to the working boys—Cockneys some call them, though the term is frequently misused—and 'Arriet is his "girl." They have their own purlieus.

If you should go to Piccadilly circus you would be in the heart of this crowd. It is exceptionally well-equipped, is this neighborhood, to cater to the appetites of the pleasure seekers. There is a restaurant called the Corner House, a huge affair, with a band on each floor which plays continuously. And there most of the 'Arries and 'Arriets are to be found on their "night out." You won't see the same crowd here often, but you will see the same kind of a crowd, as like as two peas in a pod, any night. A dinner and later a "show" constitutes the night out.

There is misery in London, too—plenty of it. London's slums are not pretty to look at, but the heart of London is kind and she gives quickly and freely in answer to a cry of distress. But not ostentatiously. Your Britisher has not got over his aversion to an outward display of sentiment—and probably never will. That's what makes him so British.

men will be dispensed with at the first of the year.

As soon, however, as the firemen are taken off the force, a 10 per cent increase in local fire insurance rates is likely. This 10 per cent increase in rates will, city officials claim, ultimately cost the citizens of Marion more than the proposed one mill levy. The levy is asked for a period of five years to take care of constantly mounting operating expenses. The increased cost of operation, city officials say, is due to the addition of improvements and conveniences throughout the city.

The new appointees to the fire department will be announced tomorrow, Director Sonnanstine said today. The men are being appointed with the knowledge they may be dismissed the first of the year if the proposed one mill levy is not favorably voted on at the next general election.

In New York Eugene Van Cliff discovered the truth in Kipling's idea that the female is more deadly than the male—when you select the wrong female.

Van Cliff was fascinated by a lady who had killed her husband with a knife, admired her in court, and almost married her afterward.

They lived together, having agreed to marry "a little later." The lady kept her temperament and the knife. The man worried, could not make up his mind to leave her, murdered her and killed himself.

Governor Roosevelt of New York will ask the Legislature "to take up a practical, definite study of unemployment insurance, avoiding, of course, any form of dole."

The difference between the British dole and unemployment insurance, if the state pays for the insurance, is not a great difference.

We all depend on each other, and our sad depression will make some, especially the prosperous, realize that when the little man suffers the big man feels the pinch.

For instance, when a small man can't afford to buy his new automobile, even on the installment plan, the big owner of railroad stocks feels the pinch severely.

The drop in automobile sales alone means to big railroads a loss of about $20,000,000 a month.

city magistrate, and charges involving two additional supreme court justices.

Healy, who is said to have received $10,000 in 1927 from Mrs. Bertha E. Ewald a few days before her husband was appointed to the magistracy, was indicted for failure to declare a 1927 income tax. Healy, until he resigned last week, was first deputy commissioner of the department of plant and structures. Although his salary in 1927 was only $7,000 a year, the grand jury charged his actual income was "approximately $35,000 or more."

It was to Healy that Cash also charged that he paid his $2,000 at the time he was reappointed city marshal.

A resifting of charges, first made last fall, that Magistrate Andrew MacRery was beaten to death because he failed to pay the final installment of $30,000 alleged to have been the price of his reappointment was started by Assistant Attorney General Conklin. MacRery died Aug. 21, 1929, in a doctor's office to which he had been taken after a conference with Andrew B. Keating, a Tammany leader. The cause of death was given as heart disease.

Von Gronau Expects To Reach Air Races Tomorrow.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Aug. 29—Captain Wolfgang Von Gronau, German transatlantic flier, took off this morning with his three companions for Buffalo, enroute to the air races at Chicago. The huge "whale" which Von Gronau flew from Germany rose from the water at the North Beach Airport at 7:22 a. m. (E. S. T.)

The flying whale's course was straight up the Hudson river to the vicinity of Albany, then overland to the Mohawk river near Schenectady, along the Mohawk Valley and across in Lake Oneida, then over to Lake Ontario's shore, which the fliers planned to follow until they were abreast of Buffalo, where an overnight stop will be made.

Tomorrow the fliers will pilot their big Dornier along Lake Erie to Toledo, then make an overland jump of 200 miles to Chicago.

PERU GOVERNMENT ACTS

New President Orders Arrest of Many of Deposed Chief's Aids.

By The Associated Press

LIMA, Peru, Aug. 29—The hand of Peru's new government fell heavy today upon those who held positions of power and trust in the old regime. Widespread arrests were reported preliminary to prosecution on charges of malfeasance and misuse of public funds.

Speaking to natives of his own department of Pierus, who called to congratulate him, President Luis M. Sanchez Cerro promised that he soon would order removal of the deposed president, Augusto B. Legula, from the cruiser Almirante Grau at Callao to the shore to stand trial for his "misdeeds."

May Attach Property

The military junta headed by Lieutenant Colonel Sanchez ordered an investigation pursuant to attaching the property of Juan Legula, son of the former president. Focion Mariateguin, who was president of the chamber of deputies, and at first was believed to have taken refuge in one of the foreign legations, was said to have been arrested.

Charles W. Sutton, chief of the irrigation works in Lambayeque department, arriving here tomorrow, will face charges of misuse of the public funds. Jorge Arrospide Loyola, manager of the Caja Depositos and Consignaciones, which has charge of collection of most of Peru's internal revenue, also has been arrested.

Two stories were told here to indicate the attitude of the new government. During administration of the oath to members of the new junta Lieutenant Colonel Solis, who was chief of the machine gun battalion which President Legula used for his personal defense, stepped toward Sanchez and embraced him. The new president looked at him and then summoned a major, and ordered him to arrest Solis and search his effects.

Martial Law Abandoned

Later Jose M. Serra, chief of the telegraphic service, introduced himself to Sanchez and said he was awaiting any orders the president might have. Sanchez ordered Serra arrested and his private effects searched in order to "ascertain the degree of his responsibility."

The secretary of government today issued a statement that the situation was normal and that the censorship maintained under the Legula administration, and reimposed by the first military junta headed by General Manuel Maria Ponce would be lifted. Martial law has been abandoned.

Foreign Secretary Montagne told the Associated Press the new government would not reopen the Tacna Arica question and would respect other international settlements arranged by President Legula.

DESTROYERS GUARD PORT

Argentina Government Prepares To Meet Any Outbreak.

By The Associated Press

BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 29—Three destroyers arrived in port today from La Plata, adding to the impressive display of military strength which the government is making as precaution against threatened revolution.

Heavy guards continued today about the presidential residence of President Hippolito Yrigoyen. Regular army forces in full war equipment also guarded the postoffice and the government house. Groups of soldiers armed with repeating rifles could be seen on the roof of the latter yesterday.

Considerable uneasiness prevails all over the city, and public figures are pointing out that the measures taken will create further unrest in the interior of the republic and cause apprehension abroad.

The president was reported to have said that he did not fear any revolutionary outbreak against the state but did believe an attack might be made against himself. There have been frequent threats against the president's life and at least one attempt against it within recent months.

A warning by Dr. Juan De La Campa, minister of justice, of impending revolution ascribed the movement to discontent with congressional inactivity and the general state of depression in the nation. The president was quoted as replying to De La Campa with a promise to call an extraordinary session of congress on Sept. 8. The regular session ends this week.

N. Y. ARSENAL SEIZED WITH GUNS, BOMBS

The gangland arsenal said to be that of Jack "Legs" Diamond, king of New York's beer racket, was raided by police who seized bombs, hand grenades, machine guns, pistols and ammunition enough to carry death to countless foes of the underworld chieftain. Above is pictured some of the arsenal being examined by members of New York Police Department.

CHAPTER 33

Chang Aims To Please

CHANG spoke very slowly, as if choosing his words, and his pronunciation was so perfect that only the slightly singsong intonation of his voice betrayed his race. But what intrigued Dagger most was his choice of the word "come." It was as if he had expected her.

"Thank you for answering my chit so soon, General," Dagger responded. "I didn't expect a personal call."

"You are the friend of my friend," he returned.

He lifted a hand, and snapped a short order over his shoulder, which cleared the hall of all its occupants, including Mr. Araki.

"If I may, Mrs. Vaneering?"

And he stepped across the threshold, closing the door after him.

"I have ordered tea to be sent up," he added as an afterthought. "The cook who prepares my tea accompanied me."

Dagger didn't know whether to be honored or amused.

"But surely that wasn't necessary, General," she objected.

"I have many enemies," he remarked sententiously. "In China poison continues to be the final resort of the defeated."

He dropped into the chair she indicated, contriving to invest the act with an unusual degree of grace—and then, with the naivete of a child, inquired: "Do I speak your language well?"

"Very well," Dagger hastened to assure him. "As well as though you had known it all your life."

He sighed, rather like a young man who has just received a note from his beloved.

"Blaine Howard taught me—that is, he began my instruction. Other teachers have followed him, but none helped me so much as he. In many other ways, also, I am fond of him, Mrs. Vaneering."

'You are fond of him?' she asked, startled.

He waved a languid hand, silver-tipped fingers glinting grotesquely.

"I had forgotten. Pardon me if I have aroused any—ah—old griefs But with me a friend never dies."

"That is like what an old Buddhist priest told me in India," she exclaimed eagerly. "He, too, was a friend of Blaine's."

"Ah, yes! The old lama of Lahore." Chang dismissed Ghulam Buk with another sweep of silver-tipped fingers. "I have heard of him Preacher of a creed of abnegation That is not my belief, Mrs. Vaneering. I have learned from experience that a man wins what he takes."

"There are different beliefs for different men." Dagger reminded him. "Ghulam Buk is happy with his; you, I daresay, are happy with yours."

"Happy?" Chang considered "Scarcely. No man who is ambitious can be altogether happy. Were he, his ambition would die, and that having been the mainspring of his life, he would cease to have a reason for living."

"That is a material point of view," Dagger protested. "Possession is not everything."

"I should hazard the guess that you, Mrs. Vaneering, possess much," he commented.

"True, yet——"

"If you will permit me! I have known what it is to possess nothing beyond the barest necessities—and very little of those. The experience is essential if you would comprehend the realities of life."

The restrained dignity of his manner impressed Dagger, and she remained silent as a knock on her door ushered in several servants carrying the materials for tea on gorgeously lacquered trays. These they set upon a table, and withdrew, obsequiously. Chang rose, and poured hot water from a pot on a tiny, gilded brazier over the leaves in a bowl, then strained off the golden liquid into a second bowl.

"This is essence of the gods— if there be gods," he said, presenting it. "From my own gardens in the south. Once it was reserved for the Son of Heaven. Now, Chang presents it to his friends."

The irony did not escape her.

"You have been very successful, General," she answered: "but can you be sure that success has meant happiness to you? Would you not have been happier, possibly, as a coolie in those tea-gardens?"

"No," he retorted promptly, "for I am not so constituted."

"Blaine Howard wouldn't accept your belief," she replied. "Nor should I."

"That is truee as to Mr. Howard," he agreed. "I offered him power on a plane with my own. He would not accept. The old lama had bent his mind the other way."

"Ah, yes, the Way!"

"I understand," assented Chang. "But do not be misled by the idea. There are many Ways—nearly as many as there are men, for no two of us walk the same road."

"I walk Blainee Howards road," she retorted proudly.

"So? I should have guessed otherwise." He rose again, impressively tall, regal, self-contained. "We have much to discuss with each other." For the first time his seamless yellow cheeks wrinkled in a smile. "Those who disagree have most to impart—and to learn. But I do not think we shall really disagree."

"Why not?" challenged Dagger

"Because you are of those whose feet seek the Way of Power," he returned. "And the man who might have set your feet upon another Way—' he hesitated perceptibly—"is gone," he concluded.

"But in my time I go, too," she said.

"Not from Sung-fu so soon?" he questioned.

"I came here to learn of Blaine Howard, not to find a different Way," she said.

"I will tell you of him,' he promised; "and whatever Way you take must be of your own choice."

She drew herself erect with a touch of haughtiness.

"It is not necessary for you or anyone to tell me so."

"Have I not said you were of those whose feet sought the Way of Power?" he replied, making no effort to conceal the admiring light in his narrow eyes. "You were born to be a princess, Mrs. Vaneering, a ruler of men, the mother of kings."

He strode to the door before she could think of an answer.

"Oh, your tea things," she cried after him.

He bowed on the threshold.

"Since they have known your presence they are too good for my humble abode," he said. "Please honor me by accepting them as an appreciation of your wisdom and beauty."

"My glory," Dagger murmured to herself, lapsing into the favorite expression of Aunt Espy, as the door closed upon the Tu-chun's tall figure.

In the morning Mr. Araki waited upon Dagger again, very much impressed.

"Motah-car come," he announced. "Driver say Tu-chun sent it for you."

She didn't know whether to be amused or annoyed, but on second thoughts concluded that she must make allowance for the customs of the east, as well as for the fact that Chang probably intended the gesture as a tribute to Howard. And if she had entertained any doubts as to the propriety of accepting the Tu-chun's courtesy,—they were dispelled when she discovered the advantages of riding in one of his cars, with two smartly-uniformed soldiers on the driver's seat.

Even the American consul sauntered out of his office to receive her, a mixture of satire and humor glinting in his eyes.

"Joined the harem, Mrs. Vaneering?" he inquired.

"Why? Is this one of the perquisites?" she retorted.

"Only for the Number One wife, I'd say."

"Will it ruin my reputation?" she asked merrily.

He laughed.

"Lord, no. But I'll bet you my last year's hat Chang has intentions. You're the first woman, who wasn't an official's wife, he's put himself out for like this."

To be continued.

Love's Reawakening

A Wife's Triumph Over Jealousy

—BY ADELE GARRISON—

Madge Begins To Feel the Strain

IN spite of my anger at Edith Fairfax and Dicky, or perhaps because of it I had said exactly the right thing to Philip Veritzen. Without exhibiting even more crassness than he had betrayed in his anger at Edith's revelation, he could not voice an objection to my husband's sending me flowers for Mary's party. And his reaction to my statement that I had not yet rejected his own corsage bouquet for my green gown, was instant and surprising.

"Yet," he repeated, ignoring everything that had gone before, and speaking in a distinctly less frigid tone. "You have not decided, then, whose flowers you will wear. That my dear lady gives a distinct fillip to my imagination, a suspense which frankly I shall enjoy. Do not tell me when you decide. I shall know tonight when I see them. I shall attend at once to the tickets and will come to the dining room shortly after two to see that the florists have filled my orders correctly. Good-bye until then."

Conquering Anger

He hung up the receiver so abruptly that I had no opportunity to answer him. From the point of view which I had told myself I must take—the prudent consideration of Noel's welfare and that of Mary—it was fortunate that he had given me no opportunity to reply. For I was so enraged at his audacity—his impudence—that I should have told him abruptly that I meant to wear my husband's flowers, and that I wished neither flowers nor theater tickets from him for Mary's party—I would find some way, even at this eleventh hour, of providing a fitting substitution for his munificence.

It was fully a minute after I hung up the receiver that I sat motionless, my fingers clenched into my palms, striving to conquer the hectic anger that was mine against Philip Veritzen for his audacity, against Edith Fairfax for her presumption and sly scheming and against Dicky for his gullibility in listening to Edith, and for his jealousy over the flowers which had so upset my plans.

One certainty, however, finally emerged from the welter of angry thoughts circling around my brain. I could do nothing until later in the afternoon, and there was no use trying to decide anything while I was so angry. I determined to follow Mary's advice and take a nap until luncheon. Forcing my anger into flight, I rose and walked to the other end of the room, where Mary and Noel were snuggled into a single but huge easy chair looking out of the window at the distant river. Noel's arm was around her and her curly head was resting against his shoulder, while his dark head was bent to hers. They did not hear me as I came toward them, and I felt guilty at having to disturb them.

"Don't move, either of you," I admonished. "You look altogether too comfortable and happy, and I'm only going to take a moment. I'm going to lie down in my room, Mary, and if Dicky or Mrs. Underwood or Mrs. Brixton telephones take the message if you can and tell me about it at luncheon. If it's anything imperative call me at once."

"I can't imagine many things imperative enough to give me a notion that I could waken you," Mary said rebelliously, and I smiled at her pretty championship of me.

"I'm sure there won't be," I assured her. "But you'd better have a paper and pencil handy if either Mrs. Brixton or Mrs. Underwood telephones. Their messages will concern the color of the evening gowns worn by the feminine guests, and I want you to take them down so that I will make no mistake when I give them to Mr. Veritzen.

Mary's Problem

Noel lifted his head abruptly.

"To my father—why?" he asked tensely.

"Because he is sending corsage bouquets to all the feminine guests," I answered.

"But not to Mary—after all the things he has done and said. I cannot bear——"

"Do not say that, yet, Noel," I interposed swiftly and emphatically. "I'm not deciding anything until after luncheon. Please do not ask Mary for her decision either until after I have talked to you. Promise?"

"Of course, if you wish it," he said, but his voice and words were stilted, formal instead of being invested with the friendliness which Noel always shows tome. I turned away with the feeling of a man standing on the top of an eminence with two people below on opposite slopes both of them tugging back, and both of whom he is trying to drag to the top by main strength.

It was at least a quarter of an hour before I fell asleep, but I slept soundly, and did not awaken until Mary bent over me, calling softly "Auntie Madge."

"It's a crime to waken you," she said "but it's almost time for luncheon."

I sat up quickly, then rose, and, going to my dressing table, took down my hair. I was conscious that Mary was watching me, and a moment later she put a tense query.

"What do you want me to do about wearing Mr. Veritzen's flowers?"

Jubilee's Pardner

A Story of Humorous Boyhood Adventure

—By JUDD MORTIMER LEWIS—

TOMORROW will be Saturday.

Saturday don't mean much to a fella in vacation time, but it won't be long now till it will be the best day in the week.

I let Jubilee down and put on my britches and went down and got the pail and went out to milk, and milked and went in and was feeding my face, and my mother said: "Why didn't you tell me that your little friend Hennery is a tree sitter?" I told her I didn't know it. Then she said that it was in the morning paper and that he had been up a long time and might maybe break the record. And then I went out and told the bunch and we remembered that the Lost Bag of Tribe hadn't been along for quite a while, and just when we were skinning out to get the cows and take them to the pasture Younies and Feeble and Maggie came, and Feeble had her air rifle along. She said she might see some squirrels in trees or monkeys in swimming or something and if she did she was going to get her one, and she looked crosseyed at me and I made up my mind to not go in swimming unless I knowed she was sick abed or had both arms broke or something.

We all started to go over to the Lost Bag of Tripe's to see if he was really up a tree, and Feeble said to let's go in the alley and look at him through the fence so as to not disturb him, and we all laughed when she said it. So we went past his street to the end of the alley and then we sneak down the alley and when we got to the board fence back of his house we peeked through the cracks and the mut was setting on a limb with his back against another limb with his arms hanging over it and some people that had read the paper were out in front looking at him, and Feeble found a knot hole, and she took aim and must of hit him where his pants were tight for he gave a yelp and jumped so that he was hanging by his arms; and then he pulled himself back on the limb, and we heard him tell the people out in front that something stung him, and he was twisting his neck trying to look all around, and then the rifle went "Spang!" and he jumped and yelped again, and then he hollered, "Mama! Mama! Someone is in the alley shooting me!" And his mother came running out of the kitchen and we skun out down the alley.

Boys can run faster than girls, so by the time we got our cows and got to the pasture the girls were nowhere to be seen. So we went in swimming, but we were always watching out for Feeble, so we didn't have a very good swim.

We went back past the Lost Bag of Tripes and he was down out of the tree and we didn't see him anywhere. He is a hairy kind of a tree sitter.

Parishioners To Commemorate 110th Anniversary of Claridon Church

First Religious Faith in Marion County Organized in 1820.

CLARIDON, Aug. 29—The oldest church in the oldest town in Marion county Sunday will celebrate its one hundred and tenth birthday anniversary. A program Sunday will mark the founding 110 years ago of the Methodist Episcopal church at Claridon.

Far different circumstances will surround the gathering Sunday at the village church than prevailed when Jacob Aye invited the community to meet at his home 110 years ago to hear the gospel preached by a circuit rider as part of the Columbus circuit of the Scioto district. These traveling ministers visited the village once in four or six weeks.

For three years regular meetings were held at the Aye home, to be continued for another 10 years at the William Parker residence. Religious activities flourished and a log house 30 feet square was erected for a place of worship. This was located a mile northeast of Claridon and was known as English Chapel.

Church Built In 1855

In 1855 a church was built in the village. The building is now the township house. The present church structure was built in 1883.

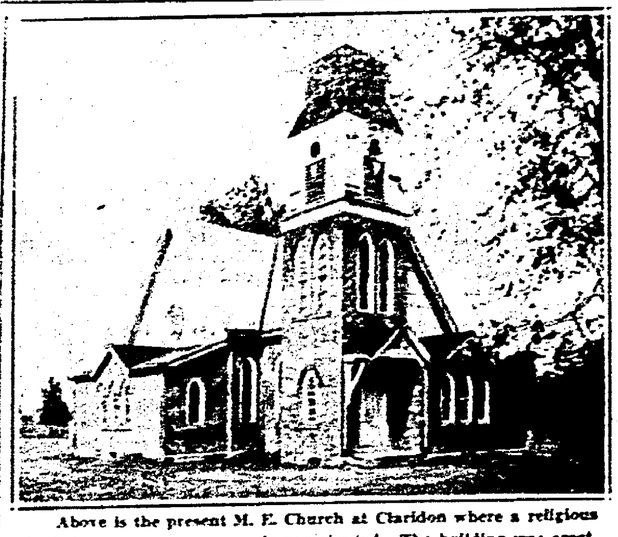
Sunday's commemoration of the foundation of the Methodist faith will include a program in charge of Rev. T. J. Maxwell. Among those who will appear on the program are H. T. Badley of India, Rev. Charles E. Turley of the Marion M. E. church and the Likens Chapel quartet. At noon a basket picnic will be served either in the township house or on the church lawn.

Claridon history discloses that village once had ambitions to be the county seat, when Marion county extended farther eastward than its present boundary. It was the first town platted in Marion county. In 1871 the village boasted 27 homes and is said in the Marion county history to be "perhaps the largest settlement in the territory." Its businessmen included a tavern keeper, a tanner, a cabinet maker and a blacksmith.

Sickness Reduced Population

The years of 1822 and 1823 are black ones on the history of the settlement. Marion was chosen county seat in the latter year, and a sickness broke out in the village that reduced its population materially and inflicted a wound from which it never recovered.

The township was originally settled by natives of England. Among names familiar in that vicinity in the years 1820-23 and from which a majority of families in eastern Marion county have sprung are those of: Jacob Aye, Joseph Hornby, Vincent Doore, William Thew, John Hines, Mathew Fields, William Dickson, Robert Boulton, Georges Bayles, John Hooten, George Welbourn, William Parker, Henry Hatfield, Comfort Olds, Hugh Osborne, William Wellborn. Later settlers were Thomas Boyce, William Mitchel, John Underwood Peter Gable, Henry Holverstett, Joseph Smith, James Lawrence, Charles Owens, Jefferson Smith, and Obadiah Miller.



Above is the present M. E. Church at Claridon where a religious faith founded 110 years ago is perpetuated. The building was erected in 1883.

VET ENTERS BALLOON RACE

Belgian Expert May Take Victory from Uncle Sam in Cleveland Event.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 29—If Uncle Sam's string of four consecutive victories in the International Gordon Bennett balloon race is stopped, Capt. Ernest Demuyter of Belgium is looked upon as the most likely to do it.

Demuyter, who arrived in Cleveland late yesterday to prepare for the start of the race Monday, is considerably more experienced in the international classic of lighter-than-air craft than any of his rivals. He has flown in every race since 1912. Has won four times and is the holder of the original trophy. Only Ward T. Van Orman of Akron, the defending champion who won the first leg on the third award last year, rivals him in experience.

The Belgian captain, however, confesses he is "a little rusty" this year. His export business in the Balkans has kept him from extensive practice.

He decided to enter for the thirteenth time upon receiving a letter of entreaty from Frank S. Lahm, of Turkeyfoot lake, near Akron, and of Paris, France. Lahm is called the dean of balloon pilots of the Aero club of France. He is father of Brigadier General Frank P. Lahm of the U. S. army air service, who won first place in the Gordon Bennett race in 1906.

The French and German and the three American crews already have started their preparations for the race, which will start after an aerial carnival of speed and stunts Sunday and Monday. The course of the balloonists, who drift with the whims of the air currents, is expected to take them across Lake Erie into Canada for the finish.

COUNTY DELAYS TAX MONEY SETTLEMENT

Books Held Open by Treasurer To Boost Receipts, Auditor Reports.

Semi-annual distribution of tax money to clerks of various political subdivisions in Marion county will not be ready Monday, Sept. 1, as scheduled, according to an announcement made today by County Auditor Earl E. Thomas.

The distribution is being held up due to lateness of collection of taxes in the treasurer's office, Thomas told clerks of the various subdivisions in a letter regarding the situation.

While the collection is reported higher than last year, the books have been held open in an effort to increase the collection.

When the books are closed and the tax money made available for settlement, the clerks will be advised.

PITTSBURGH TRIPLE TRAGEDY REVEALED

Husband Shoots Wife and Son, Then Takes Own Life; Was Despondent.

By International News Service

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 29—A triple tragedy was revealed here today with the finding of the dead bodies of a husband, his wife and son in their comfortable home here, the wife and son victims of the half-crazed, despondent husband and the husband a suicide, according to police.

The dead were F. M. Fish, 50, a materials handling engineer, his wife, Adah, 49, and their 19-year-old son, John, a high school graduate who had enrolled as a freshman in college this fall.

Neibhbors discovered the bodies after blinds in the windows of the home had been closed all day yesterday and last night. It is believed that Fish killed his wife and son while they slept sometime Wednesday night and then committed suicide yesterday.

Notes to public utilities companies telling them to discontinue furnishing gas, electricity, water and telephone service were found near Fish's body.

A .32 caliber automatic pistol was found lying beside Fish's body, crumpled up on the floor beside the bed on which lay the other two bodies.

THREE DIE IN PLANE CRASH

Two Girls, Taking First Ride, Kenmore Pilot Killed in Fatal Fall.

By The Associated Press

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 29—A pilot and two girl passengers are dead as the result of an airplane crash late yesterday in the town of Cheektowaga, a short distance east of this city.

Rose Zajac, 20, and Pearl Jabczynska, 18, both of Buffalo, and Arthur J. Devlin, 33, of Kenmore, pilot, died of injuries.

It was the first ride the two girls ever had taken in an airplane and they had been looking forward to its since Wednesday, when they met Devlin, a member of the 106th Infantry Flying club, at a privately owned flying field here.

The plane circled several times at a height of about 1,000 feet, started to bank and went into a spin from a height of about 500 feet. Devlin brought it partially out of the spin and it landed heavily on one wing.

A medical examiner said Miss Jabczynska told him that on the way to the airport the girls had stopped with Devlin and had three or four glasses of beer.

Devlin, who owns a Buffalo garage had been flying about a year. Besides his wife, a 3-year-old son survives

PADLOCK PLACES

Proceedings Under Way Against Northern Ohio Firms.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 29—Padlock proceedings were under way in federal court today against 18 northern Ohio places raided by federal agents in the last six months.

One of the places was the Hungarian National Home Co. at Akron, where Frank Riffner was arrested in an alleged bar room May 27. Others were the properties of Frank Peternac, Brookfield township, Trumbull county, and Albert George and Thomas J. Thomas, Trumbull county.

Two Officers Killed by Barricaded Moonshiners

By The Associated Press

EUGENE, Ore., Aug. 29—Two officers were shot to death and two others wounded in a prolonged gunbattle with Ray Sutherland, 67, alleged moonshiner near Marcola, Ore., last night and early today. Sutherland was believed to be barricaded under the floor of his cabin, probably seriously wounded but still defiant.

Girl Ill from Poison, Mother Held by Police

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 29—A mother and daughter were critically ill today after drinking poisoned root beer and police charged the mother with poisoning her daughter.

The mother, Mrs. Blanche French, 34, said she wanted to die but didn't want to leave her daughter, Myrtle, 10, according to police. Police said Mrs. French dissolved five poison tablets in root beer, gave her daughter some and drank the rest herself. Mrs. French had been despondent over ill health, investigators learned.

CONFERENCES HELD BY FOUR CHURCHES

Kirkpatrick Parsonage Scene of Meet; District Superintendent Is Speaker.

Special To The Star

KIRKPATRICK, Aug. 29—The fourth quarterly conference for Liberty M. E., Monnett Chapel, Likens Chapel and Claridon churches was held at the parsonage here Wednesday. Dr. F. Anderson, district superintendent of Delaware was in charge.

A picnic dinner was enjoyed at the noon hour with 30 in attendance. During the business session Earl Beers was elected delegate to the annual conference at Mt. Vernon, with Almet Kennedy as reserve. For the Kirkpatrick church the following stewards were elected for the year: William Ulmer, Loren Weir, Almet Kennedy, William Knowles, Carl Beers, Mrs. C. L. Baker, Mrs. William Knapp, Ira Beers, Harry Mason, Charles Pence; trustees: Clyde Hinamon, Ray Dobbins, Guy Hord, Samuel Stump, Guy Fisher, Edgar Hill and Earl Beers.

Mrs. T. S. Kennedy and Mrs. Samuel Stump are communion stewards.

To meet the growth of the petroleum industry in France a new oil port is being constructed at Port Jerome, on the Seine below Rouen.

GETS CERTIFICATE

MT. VICTORY, Aug. 29—The state board of school examiners has granted Herman H. Williams, a life Elementary certificate.

Violent swearing offends religious people; and it is a coarse, imbecile performance besides.

Complete Laundry Equipment
[Washer Wringer Ironer] $139.50
Less than Usual Price of a Washer

Why ruin your disposition and drudge your life away . . . when for such a trifling sum you can get complete Laundry Equipment . . . that will do two days work in about half a day?

Convenient Terms May be Arranged

A guaranteed Washer . . . a dependable Wringer . . . and an ironer that slips on in place of the wringer . . . all for the price you would pay for an ordinary washer!

Convenient Terms May be Arranged

The modern woman is clever . . . she takes advantage of any device that saves time and labor . . . that gives her more hours of leisure for the better things of life . . . instead of wasting her time and energy in useless drudgery.

Convenient Terms May be Arranged

To such women . . . the "1900" Standard Washer makes its appeal . . . the biggest family wash in the washer at 8 o'clock . . . and out on the line to dry by 9:15. Simply remove wringer and put the Ironer in place.

Convenient Terms May be Arranged

As the balance of the morning quickly passes . . . and you sit down to do your ironing . . . you'll be delighted with the absence of that usual washday "all tired out" feeling.

Try a washing . . . at our expense . . . and give yourself a treat. You surely deserve it.

Come in and ask us about it.

IS FAR BETTER

Made only at the Kellogg Plant in Battle Creek under the highest standards of cleanliness and sanitation.

KELLOGG'S CORN FLAKES always reach you oven-fresh. This is due to the exclusive Kellogg patented inner-seal waxtite wrapper. You don't have to tear, as in the case of an ordinary outside wrapper. Simply open and close it—keeping the flakes always oven-crisp.

You'll surely prefer the better flavor and crispness of Kellogg's Corn Flakes. They are the ORIGINAL. They far outsell all others simply because imitations have never been able to equal that famous Kellogg "wonder" flavor!

Enjoy Kellogg's for lunch as well as for breakfast. Serve with milk or cream and add fruits or honey. Ideal for the children's supper. So wholesome and easy to digest.

Look for the red-and-green package at your grocer's. It means genuine Kellogg's.

IMPORTANT: Sometimes other corn flakes are offered you as "just like Kellogg's" or "made by Kellogg." Such statements are false. Kellogg makes only one brand of corn flakes. They are the most popular in the world because they are different and the best liked corn flakes you can buy.

The Stars Say—

For Saturday, August 30

While this day will be lively enough with much stirring, yet it may not be considered one of unalloyed success or progress. Employment, new undertakings, finances are all under hazardous astral influences and there is a strong disrupting and devastating force at work. Nevertheless, determination and perseverance will reap reward and some subtle or peculiar influence may assist to save the day.

Those whose birthday it is may prepare for a year in which determination, persistency and patience, as well as hard work may be required to offset many perils and disruptive forces in business, employment and new undertakings. It may be that some sudden inspiration or stroke of genius or strategy may prove to be a saving grace when things appear darkest.

A child born on this day should be steady and persevering, as well as given to bursts of genius or stratagem which may assist it to surmount many difficult or perilous places. It should be given careful training.

Transoceanic Phone Rates Get Second Cut

BOSTON—The second rate reduction since its inauguration in 1927, has been made on transatlantic telephone conversations between North America and Europe. This reduction has been made possible by the increased use of the service, the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. announced. On each call for the first three minutes a $15 reduction has been made and $5 for each additional minute.

Four radio channels are now linking nearly all the countries of Western Europe with all Bell telephones and Bell connections telephones in the United States, all telephones in Cuba, and the majority in Canada and Mexico. When the service was first opened there was but one radio telephone channel spanning the Atlantic, connecting the metropolitan areas of New York City and London for a service period of but four and a half hours a day. At present the service is on a full-twenty-four hour basis, bringing into direct connection some 21,500,000 telephones in North America with more than 8,000,000 telephones in Europe.

CALVARY FACES OLD JINX IN ROY RICE

CHURCH CHAMPIONS LOOK MUCH BETTER NINE EXCEPT IN BOX

No. 1 Loop Rulers Excel in Every Position Outside of Centerfield.

BY BOB ELLIOTT

If they have recovered enough of their equilibrium, that was lost in their 5 to 4 setback at the hands of Lee Street a week ago, to play even fairly good ball Calvary's baseball aggregation should rule a favorite to defeat the Kappa Alpha Phi nine tonight and eliminate them from further play in the Little World Series. If they haven't, well then perhaps they will be given a nice little lesson in the art of baseball playing by one Roy Rice, notorious as a one-man jinx to the No. 1 league rulers.

This Mr. Rice is all that keeps yours truly from coming right out and handing the game to the Calvary boys. We might as well do it, for if we don't somebody else will. The specter of the veteran slow ball hill worker is absolutely all that stands in the path of a one-sided Calvary triumph over the fraternity boys.

Oh, No!

There is quite a bit of talk going around that Roscoe Rank is due to be on the hill when the gong rings but unless Mr. Uaflich wants to lose one friendly admirer of his good baseball judgment he'll start nobody but "brother" Rice. Not that we have anything personal against Mr. Rank. Last year he was one of the most effective hurlers in local circles but unfortunately for Mr. Rank last year isn't this year by a long stretch of the imagination.

No sir ,it's our honest-to-goodness opinion that the fans who assemble for the game will see no one but Rice in person doing the tossing for the "Kaps." There's nothing like getting that old psychological jump on your opponent and Calvary likes to bat Rice just like the American league teams like to bat Wesley Ferrell and Lefty Grove.

Granting them, that the Kappas have an edge in the pitchers regardless of who hurls for Calvary, let's take a glance at the other positions. We find Calvary excelling in probably eight of the nine. Razz Young, who is to catch tonight, holds a distinct edge over G. Hinklin. Willie Baldauf is a somewhat better first baseman than Pete Haflich, both when hitting and fielding are consistent.

At second Bob Gibson will outplay H. Geissler by a good margin

Cards Decision Cubs In 20th Inning To Win Ninth Straight Game

WOLF-BANASKI BATTLE MAY ECLIPSE CHAMPIONSHIP BOUT

Both Semi-Finalists in Labor Day Card Are Ready To Mix It Up Plenty.

Wrestling fans who are planning on attending the Labor Day welterweight championship match between Jack Reynolds and Yaqui Joe at Crystal Lake Park can expect to see a bout just as full of excitement or possibly more so when Frank Wolf of Australia tries to subdue one Joe Banaski, whose rough-and-ready tactics are only too well known to local patrons.

These two, who wrestle the one-fall, 30-minute semi-final match, should put on one of the greatest slam-bang wrestling bouts ever seen in a local ring. Neither one is particularly crazy about sticking to the rules of the mat to the letter and every once in a while something slips into their matches that isn't strictly according to Hoyle.

Banaski and Wolf, who are light-heavyweights, have met before with the cunning Banaski always coming out on the right end of the count. Wolf has hopes of turning the tables at Crystal Labor Day and may do it. At least, it should be worth watching.

Reynolds who is at present in New York City, is expected to return to his native Columbus tomorrow and then motor to the scene of his match with the Mexican challenger sometime Monday. He and his opponent are due to weigh in before the Marion boxing comsion at 3 p m. Monday. Each wrestler must be under 147 pounds, the welterweight limit at that time.

The challenger's chance to upset the veteran Reynolds is very slim but he has a chance. He met Reynolds a couple of years ago and gave him an interesting tussle then. Since that time Reynolds, who is growing no younger, has lost considerable of his speed and relies solely on a ring craft that excels any other in the game to keep the crown on his head.

They tell a story of Reynolds that typifies his craftiness in the ring. He was wrestling a tough boy one night who was getting somewhat the best of him. They each had one fall and the fox's opponent had a hold that was going to give him the match in short order if Reynold's couldn't break it. The Fox then slipped a little until his shoulders were nearly touching the mat and then reached up and tapped his foe on the shoulder. The other man, thinking it was the referee giving a signal of victory hopped up, Jack hopped on him and had him downed in short order.

The first match of the wrestling card finds Achiu, a Chinese football star of the University of Dayton opposing Jack Gorman of Toledo. The latter is one rough gentleman and Achiu will have his hands full doing anything at all with the Toledo terror.

Preceding the first wrestling bout, an eight-round boxing exhibition will be staged with Babe Auskings of Mt. Vernon opposing Joe Pangello of Galion. These boys will weigh around 130 pounds and should present a fast bout.

Tickets for the card, which will get under way at 8 p. m. Labor Day are on sale at the Markert and Lewis Haberdashery on Center street. The show is sponsored by the convention committee of Marion. All proceeds will go towards bringing conventions to Marion and advertising the city.

CARNERA TO TACKLE ANOTHER PUSH-OVER FOR EASTERN FANS

Riccardo Bertazolla Is Latest Tough Boy for Human Alp To "Fight."

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
I. N. S. Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 29—Down in Atlantic City tomorrow night, they again are going to slip the log chains off Primo Carnera, the Beer Caribou, and let him ramp and stamp and champ in the good, old medicine show routine—perhaps for the last time before he breaks in with the championship flight, perhaps for the last time anywhere. He will daily with an experimental guinea pig called Riccardo Bertazolla, who is doubtless no better than his name implies, and what Carnera may do and how he does it will be of considerable import. The man either is very good or very bad; therefore, his next time out may always be his last or the beginning of a very useful life.

The department of immigration itself was a bit nonplussed by this matter not more than a few weeks

SPORT RAMBLINGS

BY BOB ELLIOTT

ERIE Roundhouse, figured to win the Little World Series through sheer hitting power that was expected to overcome a prominent weakness in the box finds its members boasting the imposing batting average of 230 for two games. Joe Lang with four out of six and Glen Price with three hits in seven trips are the only hitters that are clouting anything near their usual form. Robbins has two hits, both infield scratches, Sharrock has one out of seven, Williams hasn't hit in eight trials. Wilson has gone hitless in six trips, Lusch has two out of eight, and Burke and Hinklin have a combined record of two hits in six times at bat. Nuf' said.

Interest in the Steam Shovel county tennis tournament is growing by leaps and bounds according to the early entries that have been received at this office and the Marion Steam Shovel Co. The entries in the men's singles so far total close to 20 with a good number expected to follow tradition and rush in with their entries about one hour before the closing time. The last date that entries can be filed is noon Saturday, Sept. 6. The pairings for the first round will be announced in the following Monday's Star and play will probably start the next day or Wednesday at the latest.

THE play of several individuals in the Little World Series is going to necessitate a change in the Star's All-City teams that were chosen by the four umpires and the author of this column a week ago. At the tim ethese teams were chosen it was believed that they were absolutely the last word in offensive and defensive strength. But the play of Joe Lang has complicated the first base selections while if Lee Street goes on to win the city championship Carl Fadley can hardly be overlooked as a pitching nominee. If a hurler can stop a clouting team like the Erie Roundhouse with a total of five hits he must have something besides a prayer.

Bruins Now Hold Lead of Five Games Over Gabby Street's Outfit.

By International News Service

NEW YORK, Aug. 29—It was almost dark out there in Wrigley Field and when the ball lunged over the plate you could hardly see it in the gloaming; then a mighty whack in the dusk, a ghostly figure dashed across the plate and pretty soon lights flashed on in the nearby thundering elevated trains as gray-tinged figures showed on the score board: St. Louis 8; Chicago 7.

For that shadowy form running from second to home was Taylor Douthit, roused into action as Andy High, Cardinal third baseman, caught one of Pitcher Osborn's fast ones and whaled a sparkling single in center.

St. Louis In Race

That was how the Cardinals beat the Chicago Cubs in the twentieth inning and today the Bruins halted five games in front with St. Louis a decided factor in a bitter four-cornered fight for the National League pennant. The Cards are in a virtual tie with the Giants for third place with the Robins only half a skirmish ahead of the Giants. It was the second straight failure of Chicago and the ninth straight victory for the powerful St. Louis club.

Scoring seven counters in the sixth inning Brooklyn came from behind to triumph over the Giants, 8 to 7, and advance to the second berth. Herman's triple and Wright's homer climaxed the fireworks for the Robins and drove Carl Hubbell to the showers.

Clubbing five Cincinnati pitchers for 30 hits, the Pirates won a double-header, 16 to 12 and 11 to 2. Heilman of the Reds got two homers in the first tilt.

Lisenbee held the champion Athletics to six hits and the Ruddy Sox took it, 2 to 1. An error by Foxx, Webb's single and a double by Miller won for Boston.

Babe Ruth continued homerless and the Senators downed the Yankees 6 to 3. Crowder was the winning pitcher.

Walter Berger chalked his thirty-first homer of the year as Boston scored six runs in the seventh and defeated the Phils(13-10.

Blaeholder nd Kimsey gave Detroit only four hits, the Brownies climbing all over the ball to register nine runs against one.

Homer No. 25 by Eddie Morgan and 17 other bingles by Cleveland blasted the White Sox 10 to 5. It was Wes Ferrell's twelfth consecutive success and his twenty-third for the season.

AGOSTA NINE IN BUSY WEEK-END SCHEDULE

Essex Carded for Sunday and Doubleheader with Morral on Labor Day.

The Agosta baseball team has a busy week-end booked with a game scheduled with Essex on the home diamond for Sunday and a double header on Labor Day with Morral, the twin-bill also to be played on the home lot.

The Agosta team has had a successful season so far in the tri-county league, fighting for the lead all season. The Essex outfit has a fairly good aggregation of ball players while Morral will test the ability of the home team to the limit

No admission will be charged to either the game Sunday or to the double header Labor Day. A collection will be taken up however to defray expenses of the traveling teams

Final Round of Men's Doubles on Schedule

By The Associated Press

BROOKLINE, Mass., Aug. 29 — The final round of the men's national tennis doubles will be played at Longwood tomorrow.

In the semi-finals yesterday George Lott and Johnny Doeg, the defending champions, defeated Bill Tilden and Frank Hunter. The British champions, Johnny Van Ryn and Wilmer Allison, overcame another New Jersey-Texas combination, Gregory Mangin and Berkeley Bell.

JOINS WESTERN RESERVE

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 29—Ray Dauger, who for three years has been head track and basketball coach at Mississippi A. & M., has rejoined the Western Reserve athletic staff. He takes his old position of assistant to Coach Gordon E. Locke. Dauber will instruct backfield men in football. Coach Thompson, who was at Iowa as Dauber was, will assist with the line.

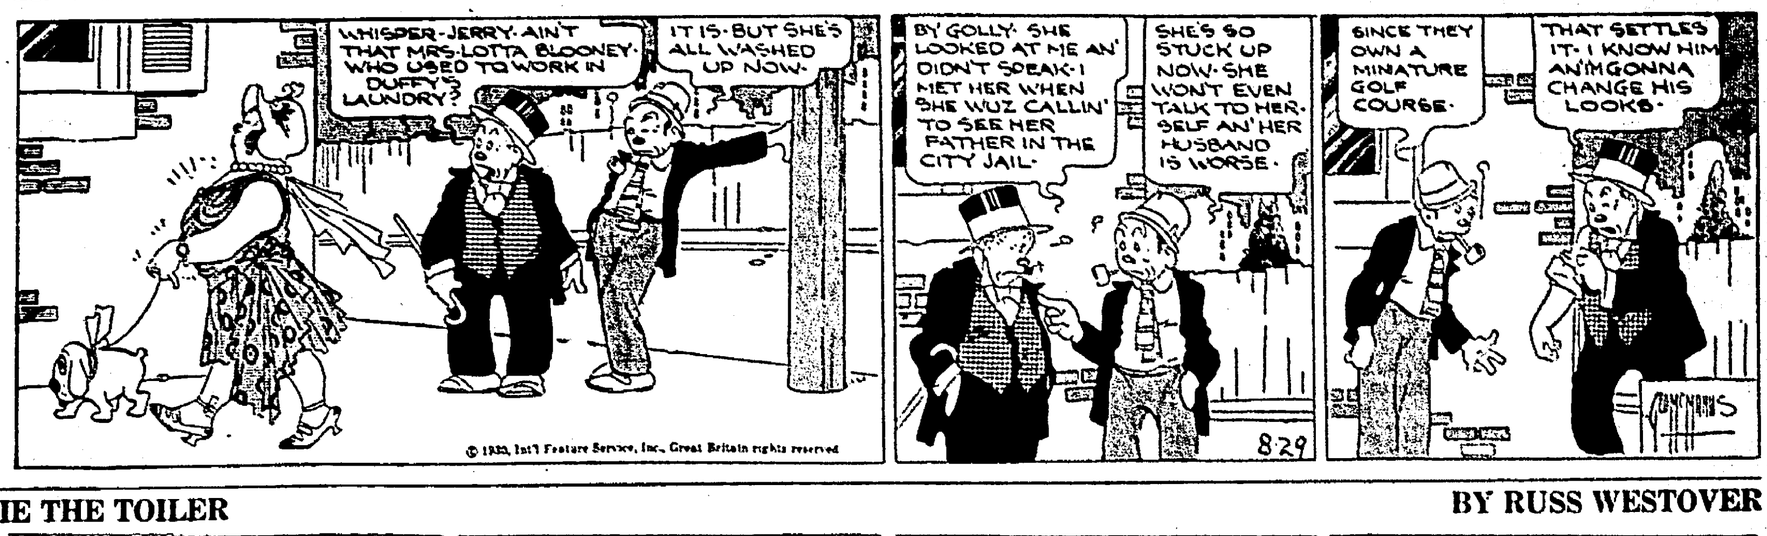
THIMBLE THEATER — BY SEGAR

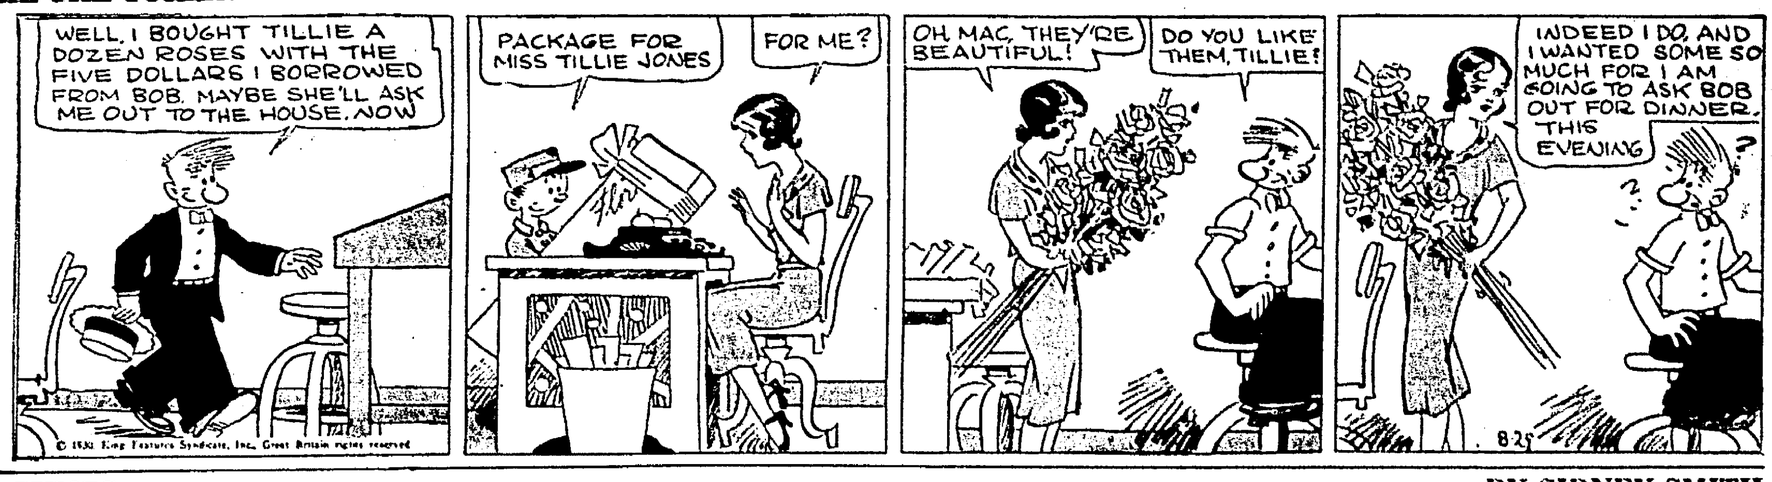
GO TELL RED TO KEEP HIS EYES OPEN. WE DON'T WANT TO BE SEEN HANGING AROUND KILPH'S OLD HOUSE
AYE, CAP'N
I'M SURE THERE'S MONEY IN THAT HOUSE. AND LOTS OF IT
I SENT JOE BILGE TO ROB DOC WATTLEY. MY UNCLE - TWENTY YEARS AGO - I WONDER WHAT BECAME OF JOE
DID THE TERRIBLE ELECTRIC RAY WHICH THE DOCTOR INVENTED GET HIM? I WONDER IF HE'S STILL IN THERE?
YOU SAY SNORK IS A VILLAIN? THEN WE MUST PROCEED SLOWLY AND WITH MUCH CAUTION
YEAH, WE GOTTA BE CAREFUL
CAREFUL, ME EYE - I WANTS A SMACK AT SNORK - I'LL GIVE 'IM ME OL' TRUSTY PUNCH - THE ONE WHERE I TWISKS ME FISK WHEN IT LANDS - IT KNOCKS 'EM NICE

BRINGING UP FATHER — BY GEORGE McMANUS



WHISPER - JERRY - AIN'T THAT MRS. LOTTA BLOONEY - WHO USED TO WORK IN DUFFY'S LAUNDRY?
IT IS - BUT SHE'S ALL WASHED UP NOW -
BY GOLLY - SHE LOOKED AT ME AN' DIDN'T SPEAK - I MET HER WHEN SHE WUZ CALLIN' TO SEE HER FATHER IN THE CITY JAIL -
SHE'S SO STUCK UP NOW - SHE WON'T EVEN TALK TO HERSELF AN' HER HUSBAND IS WORSE -
SINCE THEY OWN A MINATURE GOLF COURSE -
THAT SETTLES IT - I KNOW HIM AN' I'M GONNA CHANGE HIS LOOKS -
8-29

TILLIE THE TOILER — BY RUSS WESTOVER

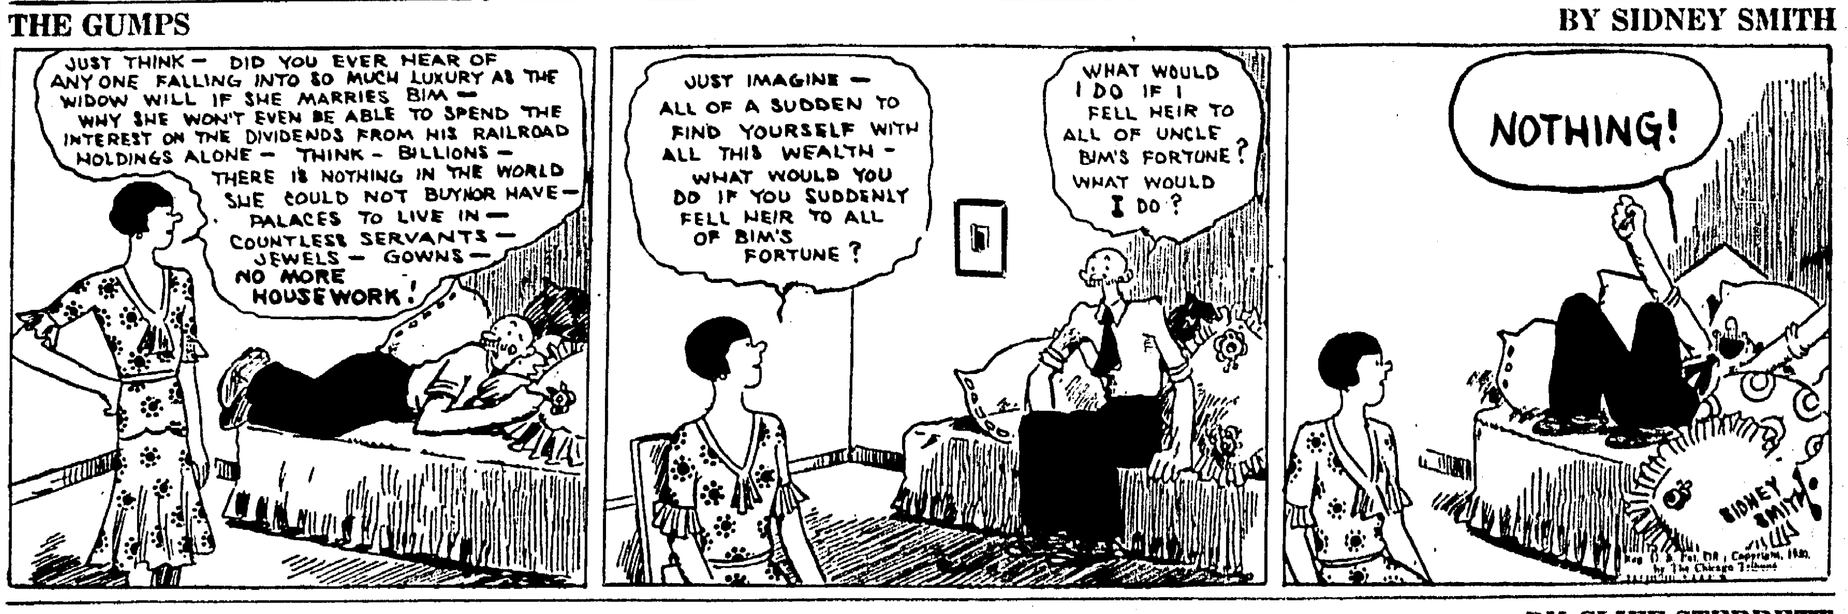


WELL, I BOUGHT TILLIE A DOZEN ROSES WITH THE FIVE DOLLARS I BORROWED FROM BOB. MAYBE SHE'LL ASK ME OUT TO THE HOUSE, NOW
PACKAGE FOR MISS TILLIE JONES
FOR ME?
OH MAC, THEY'RE BEAUTIFUL!
DO YOU LIKE THEM, TILLIE?
INDEED I DO, AND I WANTED SOME SO MUCH FOR I AM GOING TO ASK BOB OUT FOR DINNER, THIS EVENING
8-29

JUST KIDS — BY AD CARTER

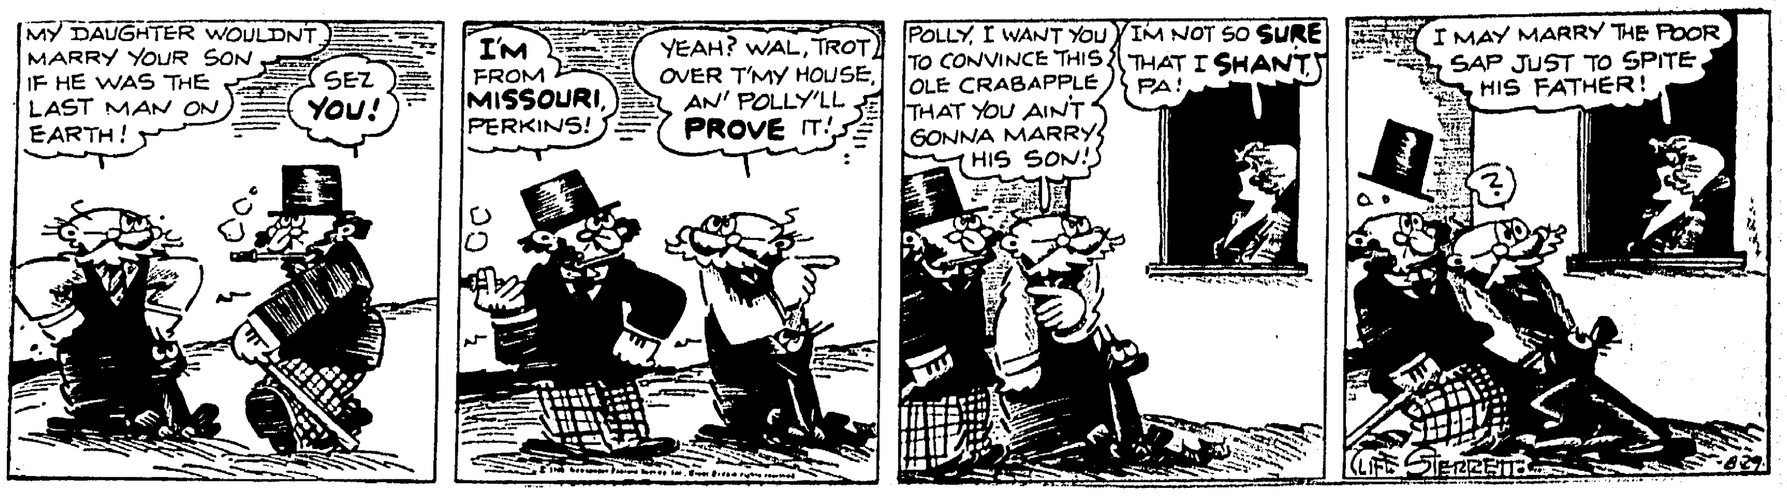
I DON'T BLAME YOU - MY BOY
DID EVER TELL YOU ABOUT MY UNCLE'S OPERATION?
8-29
WOULDJA LIKE TO TAKE A WALK - MISS AUNT?
I'M TERRIBLY WORRIED - MYRON MORDAUNT WAS TO BE HERE AN HOUR AGO TO TAKE ME FOR A RIDE AND I HAVEN'T HEARD A WORD FROM HIM - I WONDER WHAT COULD BE THE MATTER?
MAYBE HE HAS MET WITH A VERY NICE ACCIDENT?
IF MYRON MORDAUNT WASN'T IN AN ACCIDENT - WHERE WAS HE? IS HE A MAN WHO HOLDS HIS AFFECTIONS LIGHTLY?
SAY NOT SO!

THE GUMPS — BY SIDNEY SMITH



JUST THINK — DID YOU EVER HEAR OF ANY ONE FALLING INTO SO MUCH LUXURY AS THE WIDOW WILL IF SHE MARRIES BIM — WHY SHE WON'T EVEN BE ABLE TO SPEND THE INTEREST ON THE DIVIDENDS FROM HIS RAILROAD HOLDINGS ALONE — THINK - BILLIONS — THERE IS NOTHING IN THE WORLD SHE COULD NOT BUY NOR HAVE — PALACES TO LIVE IN — COUNTLESS SERVANTS — JEWELS — GOWNS — NO MORE HOUSEWORK!
JUST IMAGINE — ALL OF A SUDDEN TO FIND YOURSELF WITH ALL THIS WEALTH - WHAT WOULD YOU DO IF YOU SUDDENLY FELL HEIR TO ALL OF BIM'S FORTUNE?
WHAT WOULD I DO IF I FELL HEIR TO ALL OF UNCLE BIM'S FORTUNE? WHAT WOULD I DO?
NOTHING!
SIDNEY SMITH

POLLY AND HER PALS — BY CLIFF STERRETT



MY DAUGHTER WOULDN'T MARRY YOUR SON IF HE WAS THE LAST MAN ON EARTH!
SEZ YOU!
I'M FROM MISSOURI, PERKINS!
YEAH? WAL, TROT OVER T'MY HOUSE, AN' POLLY'LL PROVE IT!
POLLY, I WANT YOU TO CONVINCE THIS OLE CRABAPPLE THAT YOU AIN'T GONNA MARRY HIS SON!
I'M NOT SO SURE THAT I SHANT, PA!
I MAY MARRY THE POOR SAP JUST TO SPITE HIS FATHER!
CLIFF STERRETT

KRAZY KAT — BY HERRIMAN

HO, MOUSE HO, MOUSE HO, MOUSE !!!
DO YOU KNOW WHO "KATRINA" "KLEMENTINA" & "JUNIOR" ARE — DO YOU?
NO.
THEY'RE MR. KUKU'S WIFE & CHILDREN — AND THEY'RE GONNA HELP HIM FIGHT THAT DUEL WITH US —
OH-OH OH OH-
WE'RE LICKED — TOO MANY ODDS AGAINST US —
TOO MANY = KUKUS Y'MEAN.

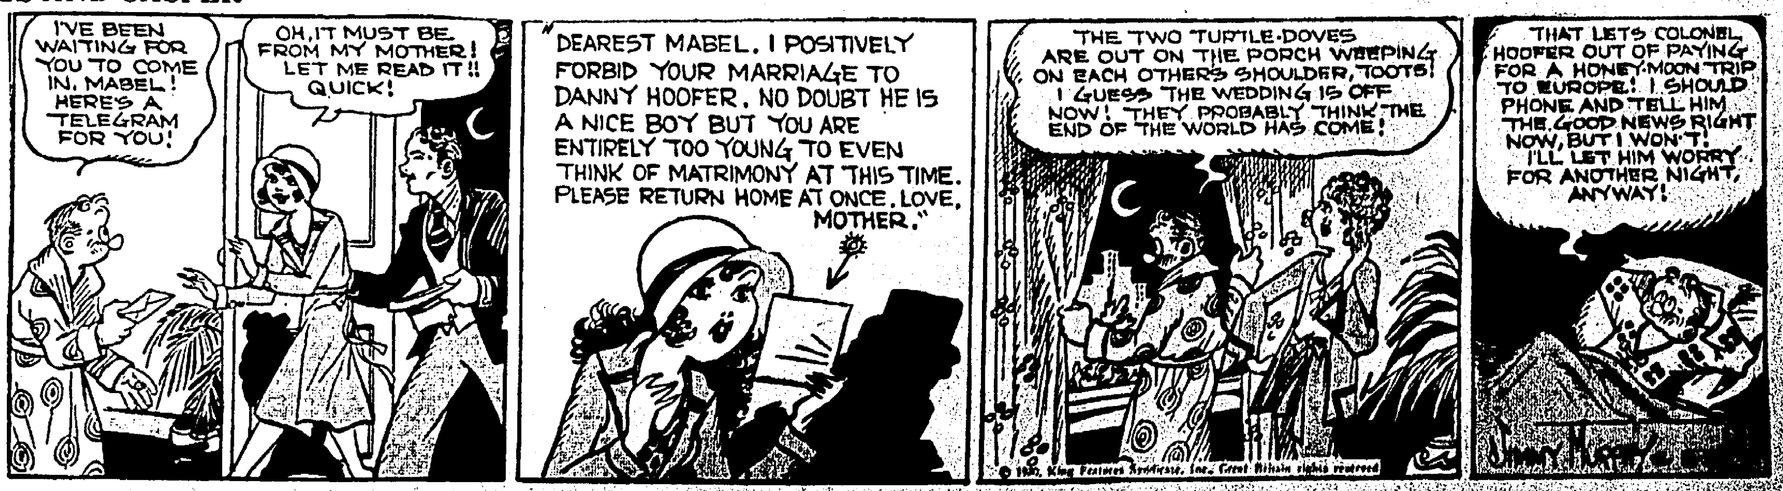
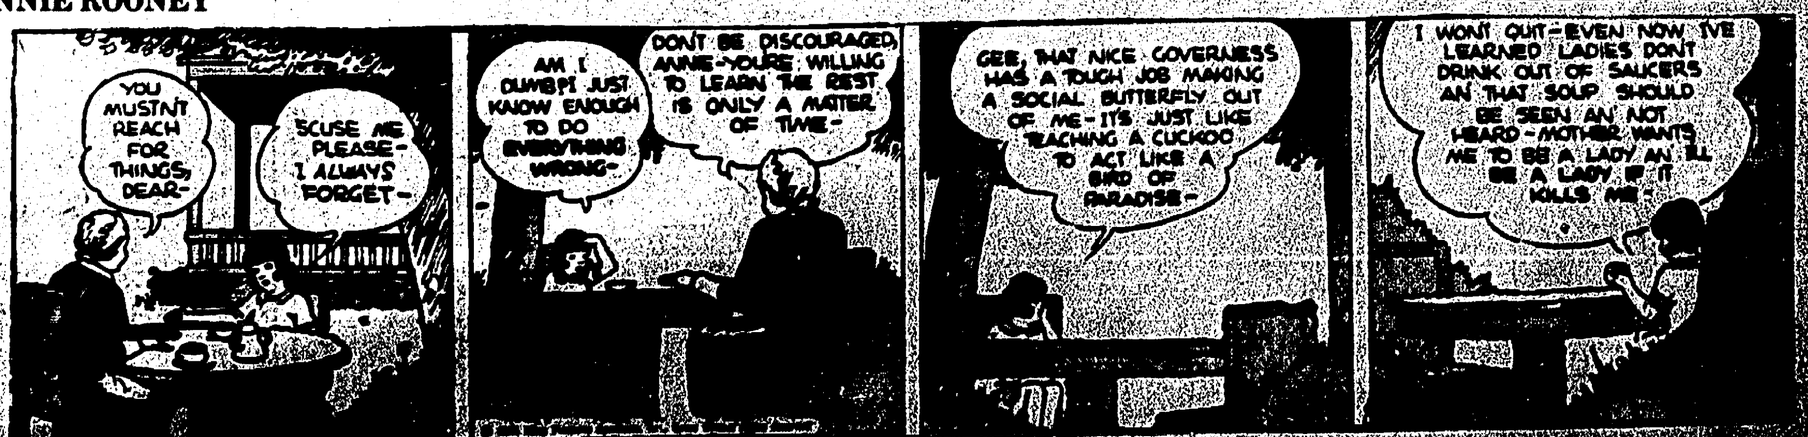
TOOTS AND CASPER — BY JIMMY MURPHY



I'VE BEEN WAITING FOR YOU TO COME IN, MABEL! HERE'S A TELEGRAM FOR YOU!
OH, IT MUST BE FROM MY MOTHER! LET ME READ IT!! QUICK!
"DEAREST MABEL. I POSITIVELY FORBID YOUR MARRIAGE TO DANNY HOOFER. NO DOUBT HE IS A NICE BOY BUT YOU ARE ENTIRELY TOO YOUNG TO EVEN THINK OF MATRIMONY AT THIS TIME. PLEASE RETURN HOME AT ONCE. LOVE, MOTHER."
THE TWO TURTLE-DOVES ARE OUT ON THE PORCH WEEPING ON EACH OTHERS SHOULDER, TOOTS! I GUESS THE WEDDING IS OFF NOW! THEY PROBABLY THINK THE END OF THE WORLD HAS COME!
THAT LETS COLONEL HOOFER OUT OF PAYING FOR A HONEY-MOON TRIP TO EUROPE! I SHOULD PHONE AND TELL HIM THE GOOD NEWS RIGHT NOW, BUT I WON'T! I'LL LET HIM WORRY FOR ANOTHER NIGHT, ANYWAY!

ANNIE ROONEY — BY BEN BATSFORD



YOU MUSTN'T REACH FOR THINGS, DEAR -
'SCUSE ME, PLEASE - I ALWAYS FORGET -
AM I DUMB?! JUST KNOW ENOUGH TO DO EVERYTHING WRONG -
DON'T BE DISCOURAGED, ANNIE - YOU'RE WILLING TO LEARN THE REST IS ONLY A MATTER OF TIME -
GEE, THAT NICE GOVERNESS HAS A TOUGH JOB MAKING A SOCIAL BUTTERFLY OUT OF ME - IT'S JUST LIKE TEACHING A CUCKOO TO ACT LIKE A BIRD OF PARADISE -
I WON'T QUIT - EVEN NOW I'VE LEARNED LADIES DON'T DRINK OUT OF SAUCERS AN' THAT SOUP SHOULD BE SEEN AN' NOT HEARD - MOTHER WANTS ME TO BE A LADY AN' I'LL BE A LADY IF IT KILLS ME -

NEWSPAPER MEN AT STATE FAIR TODAY

Thursday Races Marred as Driver of LaRue Owned Horse Falls.

By The Associated Press.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 29—Newspaper men from all sections of the state were among the thousands who attended the Ohio state fair today. The day was set aside as Press day and the scribes were invited to inspect the multitude of exhibits and witness grandstand and coliseum performances. A press luncheon at the clubhouse was arranged for noon.

Today's attendance was expected to equal if not exceed that of yesterday when some 90,000 persons passed through the gates

Judging of dairy shorthorns and brown Swiss and the blacksmith and groom contest were among attractions at the coliseum. Mrs. J. C. Morningstar of Seville was awarded first prize in the hog-calling contest yesterday.

Today was the last day for the harness races. The program called for three races, each for a $1,000 purse. They were the 2:12 pace, 2:15 tot and the free-for-all pace.

Yesterday's races were marred by an accident when Ed Sargent of Newark, driving Neb Moore, owned by L. L. Aller of LaRue, was spilled from his sulky in a collision during the final heat of the 2:18 pace. He suffered scalp lacerations and severe bruises.

Tomorrow, the final day of the eightieth renewal of the fair, will be aviation day. The feature event will be the Curtis-Wright flying circus at 1 p. m.

Pilgrimage to Grant's Birthplace Ends Meet

By The Associated Press.

CINCINNATI, O., Aug. 29—A pilgrimage to the birthplace of General Grant at Point Pleasant, O., today wound up the sixty-fourth annual encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic.

The veretans made Lieut. Colonel Ulysses Grant III, grandson of the famed union leader, their guest of honor and officer of the day.

Perhaps more people would go to heaven if there were Sunday excursions.

MARKET PRICES MOVE HIGHER

Pre-Holiday Session Makes Market Strong; Marts Closed Until Tuesday.

By International News Service

NEW YORK, Aug. 29—The move to higher prices was continued in all sections of the market in today's pre-holiday session. The best grade industrial shares combined with the rails and utilities to make a strong market, though most of the buying was from professional quarters, and presumably for the covering of shorts. There was a big exodus today from Wall Street for the extended week-end holiday, all markets in the financial district being closed from the final gong until next Tuesday morning.

Though business and industrial reports were generally unchanged, Wall Street is looking confidently to a turn for the better after Labor Day. Funds in abundance have been pouring into the financial district for investment and potential buying power by the millions is waiting on the side lines. A new $26,000,000 decrease in brokers loans was regarded as a favorable factor though not so much attention is being paid to brokers loans these days.

The amusement stocks, under the lead of Loews and Warner staged a come-back and sold at the high prices of the movement. The food stocks, utilities, specialties and most of the rails were in good form, with recoveries running from 1 to 3 points and more. United States Steel sold ex-dividend above 171, equivalent to 172¾ on the basis of yesterday's closing price. Industrial Alcohol forged ahead about 3½ points at 69½. Woolworth, Sears Roebuck and other mercantile stocks carried forward the advance which started late in yesterday's session.

Today in Marion Market

Groceries, Produce, Meats, Grain, Livestock

Lombard plums made their appearance today on the Marion provision market. The fruit, which is imported, is packed in peck baskets, selling for 65 cents each. The quality is excellent, it is reported.

Butter is selling generally for 46 and 51 cents a pound. The market for this product has been rather unsteady for some time.

Sweet corn is still being brought in for local sale though not so plentiful as it has been. The quality is not as high as it might be.

CORN, WHEAT VARY PRICES

Enlarged Buying of Corn Does Much To Lift Price Values.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Aug. 29—Corn displayed an upward price tred early today, whereas wheat averaged lower. Enlarged speculative buying of corn, together with indications that bullish private corn crop estimates here forthcoming, did much to lift corn values. Wheat prices lagged influenced by heavy receipts at Winnipeg, 938 cars today, a total more than double that of a year ago. Opening unchanged to ⅝ higher, corn afterwards scored decided general gains. Wheat started at ⅞ decline to ½ advance and subsequently kept near to the initial range.

Unconformed reports were current that a leading crop expert's September corn crop estimate, scheduled to be given out next Tuesday, would suggest a yield of only 1,925,000,000 bushels. This would compare with recent lowest predictions of 2,000,000,000 bushels, but received general credence on account of persistent reports from other sources telling of poor filling and absence of ears. Today's buyers recognized that corn as feed will have severe competition from substitutes, but said that with yields sensationally curtailed, prices for corn promised to be well maintained throughout the crop year. Jumps of more than 20 a bushel in corn values followed reports of a big slash in crop estimates. Despite early weakness, wheat also scored fractional advances as corn quotations continued to mount. Overnight export demand for wheat was described as moderate. Oats advanced with corn.

Provisions were steady, duplicating the action of hog values.

CARNERA TO TACKLE ANOTHER PUSH-OVER

ago. It even went so far as to order the fellow to leave the country but a compromise was effected whereby he promised to stay almost indefinitely. It was all very simple. The department told Primo to go but he said he would be glad to stay, so everything was fixed up nicely.

However, even though he finds it inconvenient to leave the country just now, he wants to do the right thing by the government and will begin tomorrow night by leaving Atlantic City. It is only a coincidence that about $100,000 is liable to leave with him. They tell me this fight can't miss.

The arena, according to estimates, will seat 40,000 and, with a million people at the resort over the holidays, it ought to be like selling tickets at a subway station.

This Bertazolla has nothing but size and a resolute chin. He has never been knocked out, they say, but neither have I, so thats' all even. The answer means about the same in both cases, namely, it isn't always the chin that counts but the fist that hits it.

Considering that Bertazolla himself can't hit hard enough to knock your hat well back upon your ears, the foregoing would seem to place all of the proof in Primo's hitting. Assuming that the other chump will be in there trying, then it ought to narrow down to a question of which will succumb first, Primo's hands or the chump's face.

However, there is this to be noted about the other chump. I was sitting in an office at Madison Square Garden some time ago thinking about my investments or something when the telephone went off and I gave ear, as it were. It seemed that a certain matchmaker had a message that I was to deliver to a certain gentleman of our mutual acquaintance.

CHURCH CHAMPIONS LOOK MUCH BETTER

if their previous series records are taken as a criterion. Gibson was the only Calvary batter who was very effective against Fadley with the exception of Flash Baldauf while Geissler went hitless against Shoemaker. Flash Baldauf will probably rank a little ahead of Gene Geissler at shortstop in hitting and fielding. The edge in fielding is practically negligible however but Baldauf must be given an edge in hitting.

Niemeyer at Third

Third base, Calvary's eye-sore since the departure of Robbins, finds Jerry Niemeyer a converted outfielder in charge. Niemeyer used to play the hot corner with the Lutherans and shouldn't do such a bad job. He'll do better than Marion Hinklin, at least at the bat for the simple reason that Marion Hinklin isn't doing anything at all at the present time.

Calvary will take a 3 to 2 edge in the outfields with Myron Gibson outranking Bill Woods and Cloyce Messenger rated ahead of whoever plays in right field for the Kappas. Johnny Rife should outplay Scoop Midlam in center field. Rife starred for the Kappas in their opening game both in the field and at bat.

The winner of this game tackles the Erie roundhouse next Tuesday and the survivor of that game goes into the finals with Lee Street, who sits back in comfort for the next week to watch the other boys ruin each other's pitchers.

BANK CLEARINGS UP

Bank clearings here yesterday were slightly higher than for the corresponding day of a week ago. The total yesterday was $58,226.44 against the total for last Thursday of $56,325.58. This is an increase for yesterday of $1,900.86.

ONE MAN DISABLED IN JULY ACCIDENTS

Industry Causes 133 Cases of Injury to State Industrial Commission.

Marion county had one industrial accident in July that resulted in permanent disability and none that resulted fatally. A total of 133 accidents were reported for the county for the month to the division of safety and hygiene department of the industrial commission of Ohio.

Twenty accidents were reported that caused a loss in time of over seven days, and 99 that resulted in no time lost.

The July record is an improvement over the preceding month when 143 accidents were reported, though no fatalities were recorded for the preceding month there was 3,969 days lost time as a result of the accidents.

For the entire state the accident record was not so good as for the preceding month of June but it was better than that for July of a year ago. The time losses occasioned for June was 861,073 days and for July 809,920 days. Ninety-seven accidents were fatal, four more than for June of this year but 10 less than for July of last year

AUTO LOOTED

Traveling Bag Missing; Company Office Here Entered.

Herbert Fowler of 647 Silver street reported to police today that someone broke the lock on his car last night while it was parked near the Union depot and stole a traveling bag and a brief case.

Fowler said the traveling bag contained men's wearing apparel. The brief case is said to have contained valuable papers as well as other miscellaneous articles. An artistically colored ball on the gear shift lever also was taken, the report said.

In the second robbery report to local police last night, the Lakeside Biscuit Co. of Bellefontaine avenue reported that the offices of the company had been entered and about $9 worth of merchandise taken.

A bicycle belonging to Gabino Gomez of 667 Silver street was reported today to have been stolen from the former site of the Erie transfer.

BUMP FINED $500 ON LIQUOR CHARGE

Man Fails To Show Up for Arraignment; Arrested on Bench Warrant.

George Bump of Delaware, indicted last month by the grand jury on a charge of illegal possession of intoxicating liquor, second offense, this morning was handed a $500 fine and costs when he pleaded guilty before Judge George B. Scofield.

Officials were unable to serve the indictment on Bump for more than a week and then failed to appear for the arraignment. Late yesterday Deputy Sheriff Roy Chapman picked up the man at Delaware on a bench warrant issued from common pleas court here.

The court ordered Bump remanded to the county jail until the fine and costs are paid.

Heats your whole house upstairs and down.
Will save its cost in coal.
Lasts a lifetime.
No repair bills.
No dust — No smoke.
Never any polishing.

AIR IS CHEAPER THAN COAL.

Moore's patent sloted fire bowl burns the fuel from the outside. Burns up the smoke and gases that ordinarily go up the chimney.

The New Graybar

It Washes, Rinses, Drys Mechanically

New Low Price. No Wringer Rolls to wear out and tear buttons off. Do your washing in one-third the time spent with other washers.

$94.50

You never need put your hands in the water if you use a Graybar. The Graybar does all the work right in your kitchen if you wish. There are no complicated controls. No stooping. No oiling. You simply put the clothes in the washer. It does all the work—washes, rinses, dries—all in the same tank.

THE ONLY WASHER OF ITS KIND

Put the clothes in the water, then do the dishes—cook the meal—read the paper or sit down and rest. No matter how dirty the clothes are, they come out all snowy white. No matter how dainty—they're safe. You can't tear the finest garments.
